Individuals drawn together, sharing the same time and space, we became the Eastern Student Body. Essentially a group of realists, we were fortunate, since our address was tomorrow, to let our idealism and pragmatism be as one. We dreamed, but we also achieved. We spoke out for the better way — not in revolt — but as contributors to improvement.

We were like children who wish on rainbows, like the artists who paint them, like scientists who explore them. We lived on one. Moreover, we took it apart and examined it and found it was worth preserving.

Without radical movement or destructive demonstration, we embarked on a new decade — an Age of Understanding.

Like

We ushered in the Age of Aquarius with more than a headlong rush into the 1970's. Any understanding that we gave, or received, was not based only on the moment. We were in a learned place, with the knowledge and traditions of the ages from which to draw. We selected those things which were lasting, not because they have existed, but because they held a meaningful purpose for the future.

The past did not fetter us; we could not let it. For if the present ever allowed the past to force stagnation upon it, the future would suffer. Our tradition, in fact, demanded growth to provide places in which to develop physically, mentally, and spiritually.

NBC SPORTS

And, our growth was dependent on our spirit, For any civilization, at its best, is nothing more than a storehouse of manikins if it lacks or subdues spirit. For spirit is that which feeds the soul, enabling the individual to function and mature.

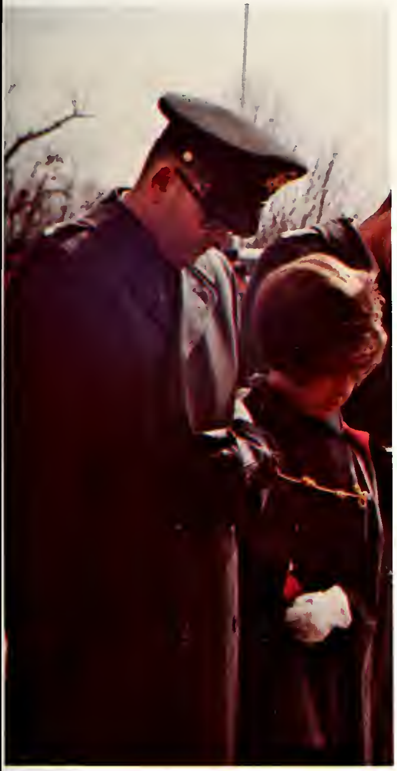
We displayed and developed our understanding in myriad ways. Eastern was a society n microcosm in which we matured as social beings. Those same escapes from harsher realities that university life provided made us forge deeper understandings with others.

Eastern

Despite our youthful fervor and the urge to live for now, we kept ourselves aware that we were here to learn. We devoted ourselves to scholarship in order to build the intellectual foundations for understanding and to search for the absolutes in a world of change.

We pursued our education beyond the classroom in those activities defined as culture. Those concentrated doses of society that temper our incivility demanded not always our appreciation, but rather an understanding of our relationship within the cultural whole.

We became involved at Eastern as collaboators in the total educational experience. Unlerstanding developed here, too, as student, eacher, and administrator taught one another hat each had a contribution to make and that ll were bound by common aims and puroses.



But, perhaps most significantly of all, we sought the understanding that comes from within — the knowledge about oneself that makes it possible to maintain identity. Without this knowledge of ourselves, we could never erase the prejudices that exist around and within us.

We arrived at that time when our lives would begin in earnest. We realized that the Age of Aquarius — a time when peace would guide our planet — with its dreams of social justice and understanding, would depend on us and our brothers.

It was a year of dawnings.

The freshmen were the first to come and, along with their worldly possessions, they brought life to the campus. They weren't the sole occupants long, however, as upperclassmen soon followed, bringing with them the hilarity of Rat Court.

While much of Orientation Week was crammed with standardized tests, academic advising and the completion of trial schedule cards, not all the activities were serious. The big IFC parking lot dance, the beanie booth and the lip-biting excitement of the powder puff football game were all important parts of that first week.

Oriented to the campus, and starting to feel very collegiate, we came face-to-face with the stark realities of registration. After spending interminable hours filling out IBM cards, standing in lines, and completing that perfect schedule with all classes one pattern and none before 10 a.m., the words "Class Closed" from the mouth of a registration worker burst our bubble.

Retaliation was our first thought; we considered folding, spindling and mutilating; but instead grabbed a seat on the floor and attempted to regroup. What seemed like days later, the adviser finally signed his initials and registration was complete. Classes would soon begin. We would finally be college students.

Buying a few books will be no problem,
ve thought, emboldened from having sur-

Contributing to the confusion was the act that we didn't know where to look or needed books. And in the end, the ape outlasted the supply of the economi-

The Eastern Progress

Having earned a break, we entered the grill, and discovered a place that was a way of life in itself. We were in immediate danger of becoming candidates for the popular four-year degree in grillology.

After the initial pangs of the school year were over, the routine could finally begin. We set about getting to know our roommates and learning to live with others. We found out that this can often be as difficult as classes. Dorm life made Eastern a learning experience 24 hours a day, adding knowledge about relations with others and how to sleep amid chaos, to what was discovered in the classroom.

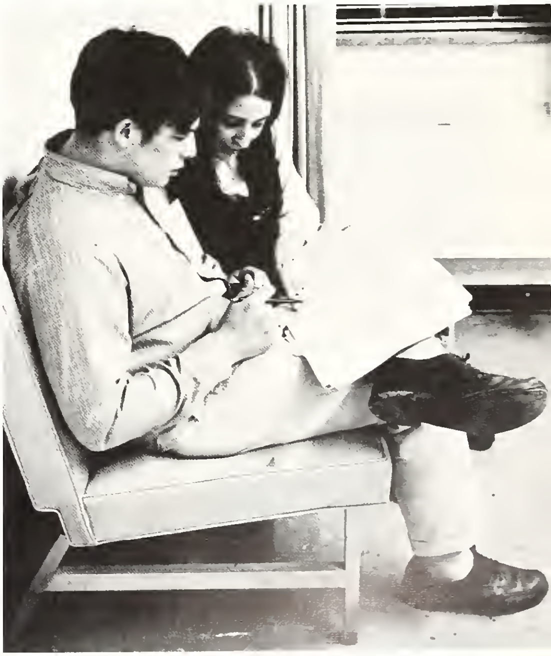
"You'll spend more time on this course out of class than you will in it," said the professor, and inwardly we laughed. Later, when we found out he was right, the realization came that a large part of this business of getting an education was, indeed, our responsibility.

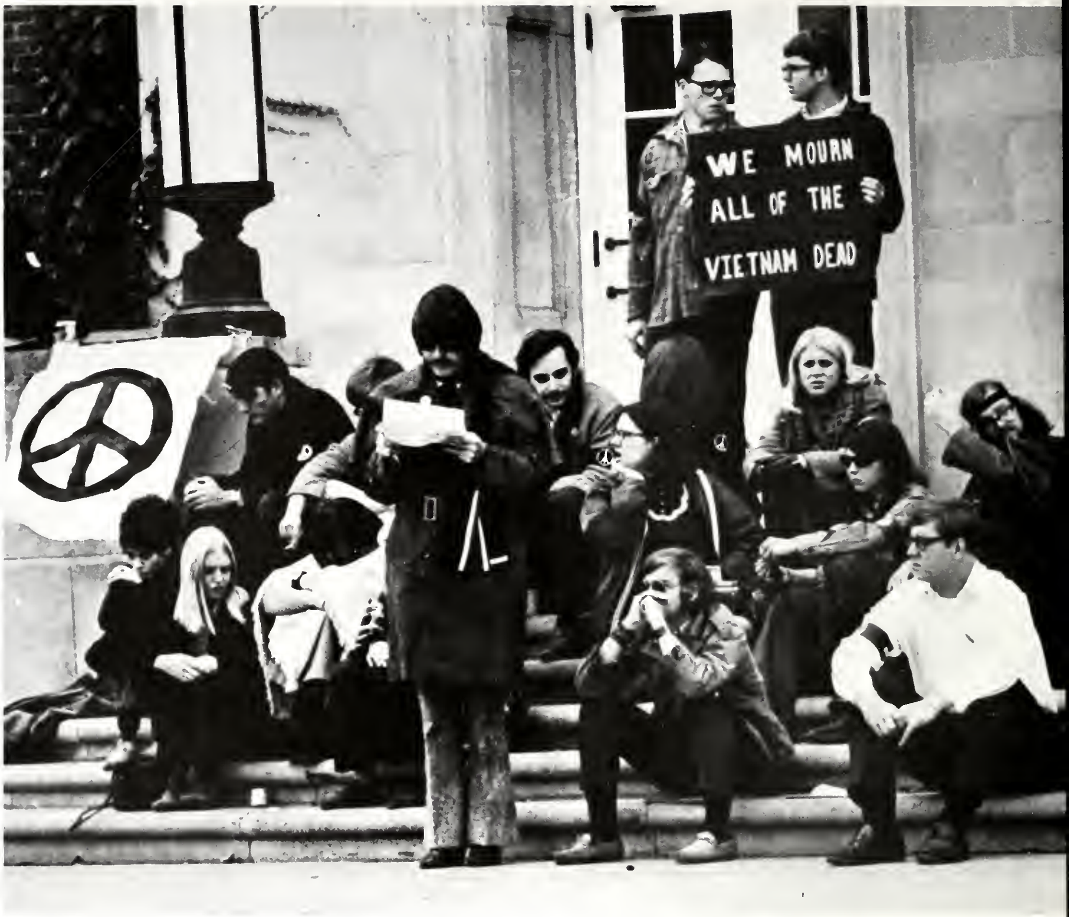


Before long, getting the facts became important, and we luckily discovered that someone had already done a lot of the work for us, cataloged it, filed it, and put it away on the shelf. It was up to us, however, to dig it out, interpret it and apply it to our needs.

Direct application of what we had learned, more easily done in some classes than others, reinforced our newly acquired knowledge. Putting skills and ideas to the test became an integral part of our educational experience.

We became more involved than ever before. We had a responsibility to help guarantee sought-after understanding between student, faculty, and administrator. As students in a contemporary environment, we were given the opportunity to help determine the direction of our emergent university.

As university students, we found avenues of involvement and experience widening . . . perhaps to the University Theatre where student actors expressed themselves in "Romeo and Juliet," "Christ and the Concert," "After the Fall" and "Rhinoceros."



During the fall most of us were involved, either as participants, supporters, or observers, in one of three responses to the war in Vietnam:

October 15, the national Vietnam War Moratorium, reflected at Eastern by the reading of the names of war dead and an afternoon amphitheatre program on U.S. war involvement.

November 11, a crowd including Eastern faculty, students, and ROTC cadets, gathered in front of the Madison County Court House to honor U.S. war dead on Veteran's Day.

On ROTC Day, a cold, wintry November Saturday, the University's 2,500-man ROTC brigade stood with heads bowed during a prayer for peace.

The need to belong and be committed to something led us to the athletic contests, where we joined with fellow students to create the crowd, a vociferous, spontaneous entity which depended on the enthusiasm of its individual members.

Colors and Sounds Erupt on Band Day

Band Day brought its annual explosion of color and sound to the campus in the guise of more than 5,000 high school musicians, their glitter, prancing and rhythm a pleasure to the eyes and ears.

A morning parade of fluttering flags, bobbing plumes and march tunes provided, as always, inadequate preparation for the goosepimples that came when Kentucky's finest high school musicians joined the Marching Maroons for another awe-inspiring halftime show.

Homecoming '69 Was a 'Fantasia'

The Nights Before . . .

Chicken-wire, napkins and papier-mache met with student ingenuity in a tobacco warehouse as the floats took shape in the nights before the big day. Cheerleaders whipped up excitement at the traditional pep rally, while enthusiasm that blazed as brightly as the bonfire was released, in part, to the music of the Exiles.

. . . The Parade . . .

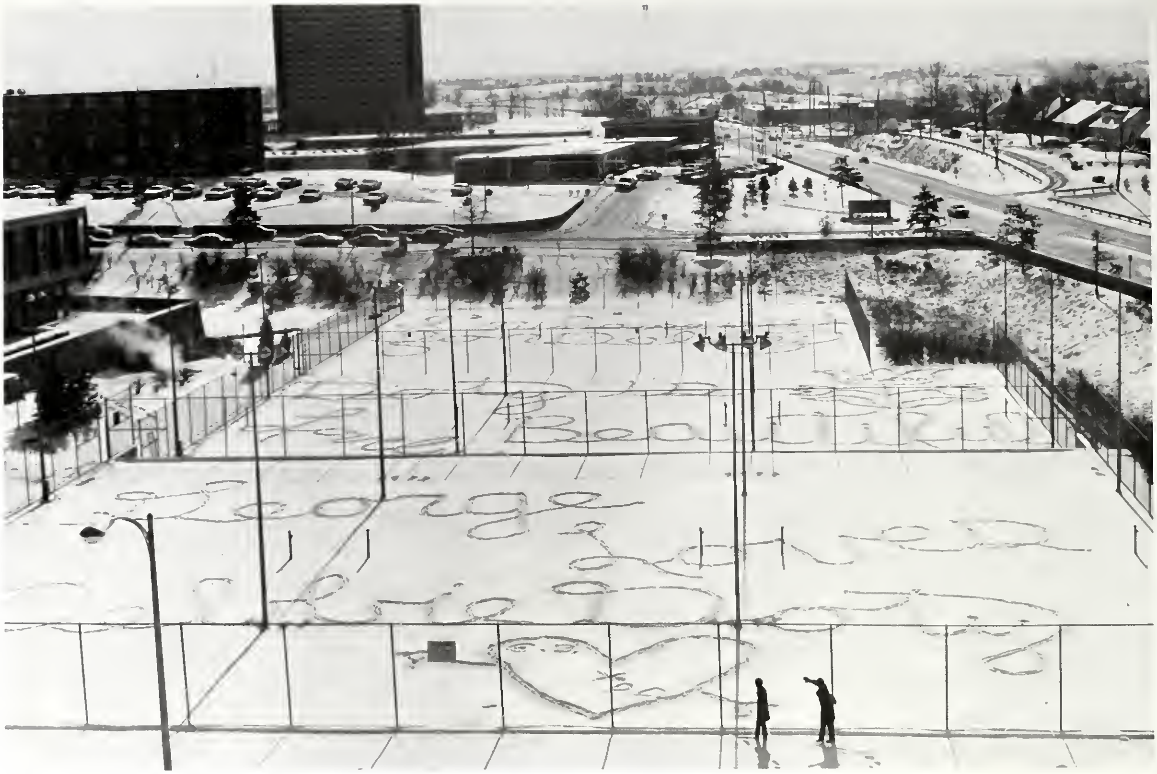
'Fantasia' was the theme and Mother Goose could well have been the Grand Marshall. Mickey Mouse was there. So were clowns, children, and a "buggy" Western. And, we were reminded that the "man in the moon" was no longer fantasy.

W

. . . The Game

Eastern and Western met nose-to-nose in the annual battle of Ohio Valley Conference giants. Debbie Cox, a freshman lovely, reigned as Homecoming Queen as a Miss Kentucky looked on. And, while a sea of umbrellas protected fans from the rain, nothing could shed the gloom of a one-point defeat.

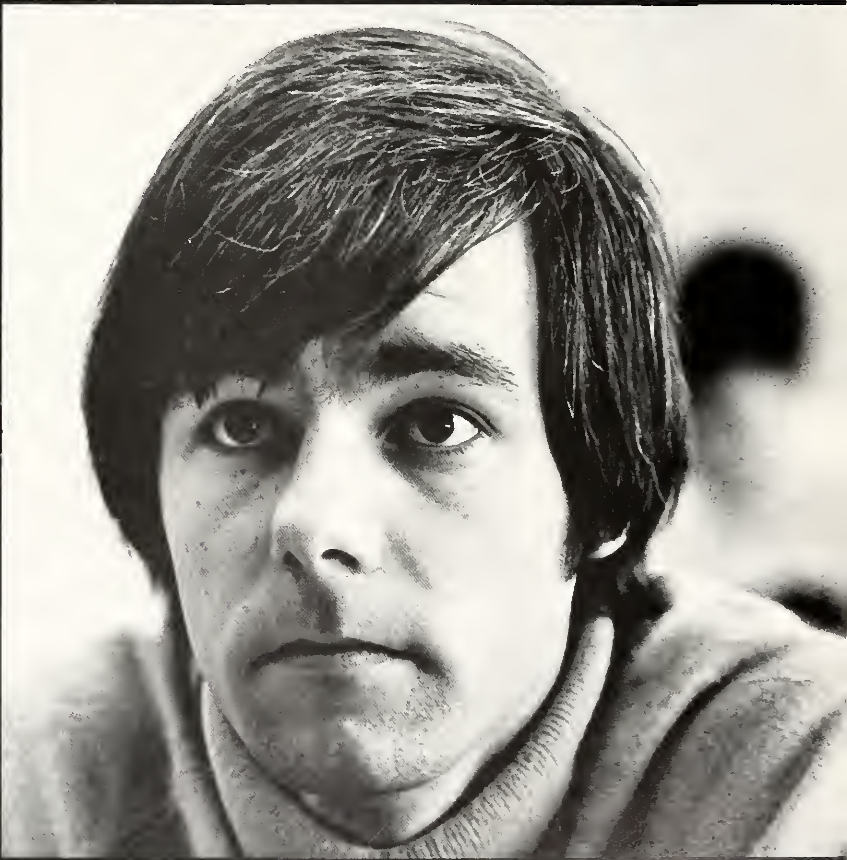
The Christmas season at Eastern was a time of beauty and ceremony. We joined our fellow students in the Yuletide spirit through the Hanging of the Greens in the Student Union, the presentation of Handel's majestic "Messiah," and the Christmas concert of Eastern's Dance Theatre.



A bitter winter confronted us with paradoxical situations. Snow-covered tennis courts permitted young love to be proclaimed to all and snowball fights, snowmen and sledding dominated campus activity. But, when subzero weather and a power failure combined to stop heat in the dormitories and we became tired of trudging to class through those record snow falls, We were ready for spring.

For the first time this year, we paid for entertainment in advance with other registration fees. And it was worth it. The interim University Center Board brought a variety of talent to the campus, ranging from jazz and hard-rock to comics and serious lecturers. Names included Ramsey Lewis, Little Anthony and the Imperials, the Ten Wheel Drive, David Frye, Mark Van Doren, and Stewart Udall. Charles Bohlen, former Ambassador to Russia and senior U.S. career diplomat at his retirement, was the Garvice Kincaid Lecture Series speaker.

We learned through interaction in the classroom from professors who used varied forms of human expression to convey concepts across the room . . .



. . . to where we, in turn, used expression to register our reaction.

Expression went beyond the classroom and everywhere could be read anxiety, joy, enthusiasm and impishness on the faces of those we saw.

Spring came to Eastern, ushered in by the warm-weather activities of the Greeks. Egg throws, slave auctions, and shoe shines popped up along every campus sidewalk, but most memorable were the mud and antics of the Delta Upsilon Bike Race and Kappa Alpha's Old South Week Girls Olympics.

Organized activities didn't have sole reign, however, as the campus population spent less time in the dormitories. It became common to see flying kites, watermelon feasts, and even a good-natured sword fight. And, with the dependability of Capistrano's swallows, the couples found their way back to the ravine.

Then, as abruptly as it had begun, it was over. With mixed emotions, we came to that ceremony that marks both an end and a beginning. This was what we had come here for, but we were leaving behind a part of our lives that we cherished. We would always have the memory.

It had been an interesting year, one in which we were part of something big. Compressed along with nearly 10,000 others onto a campus that had grown to accept us, we felt our identity threatened.

At times feeling regimented, only a number, we had the irrepressible urge to "suitcase" and get away for a while.

But, if it were a successful year, we saw beneath the superficiality of size and numbers to the real Eastern, taking away an understanding of ourselves and of others that could not have been gained in any other way.

A SPECIAL REPORT

They have been called soaring, sizzling and scintillating. To say that they came to Eastern with a bang would be both understatement and oversimplification. They were the most significant years in the University's development. They could be likened to a period of adolescence in which Eastern moved rapidly toward maturity. They were the

An Eastern Transformation Begins With New Decade

Besides signaling the beginning of a new decade, one of those ten-year elements with which historians like to work, 1960 witnessed the start of developments that would dramatically change the face of Eastern.

Before the decade was out, Eastern would undergo a 300 per cent growth in enrollment, increase the dollar value of the physical plant seven times, nearly quadruple its faculty, add literally scores of new academic programs, and get a new name.

President Robert R. Martin, who took office July 1, 1960, set the tone for the 60's at Eastern with his inaugural address, delivered November 17. With remarkable accuracy, Dr. Martin's "Vision of Greatness" predicted the developments the 60's would bring to Eastern, although his estimates on growth would prove to be conservative.

The first full academic year of the decade, 1960-61, ended on as high a pitch as it began. Then Vice-President Lyndon B. Johnson was the speaker at the Spring Commencement and received the first honorary doctorate in Eastern history. He added his own touch to the Eastern building program by breaking ground for Alumni Coliseum.

The Summer Commencement speaker provided no anticlimax. Carlos Romulo, leader of the Philippine Republic, delivered one of the most inspiring addresses ever heard here.

The soaring, sizzling, scintillating Sixties had begun. Eastern would never again be the same.

Campus Undergoes Overall Transition

"Transition" was the theme of the 1962 Milestone, and it pointed to the construction of Alumni Coliseum, Brockton, and Martin Hall as "concrete evidences of a great college on the move." The Donovan Building was also nearly completed, as Eastern moved well into a building program that was to exceed $70 million before 1970.

Transition was felt in every aspect of Eastern life in 61-62, and athletics were no exception. Paul McBrayer, who had coached Eastern basketball for 16 years and guided the "Maroons" to five OVC titles, resigned. His successor, Jim Baechtold, was one of his former All-American players. An unpleasant development in Eastern basketball came when a last-second Murray shot broke a 38-game home court winning streak in old Weaver Gym. No Eastern student then enrolled had seen the "Maroons" lose at home.

"Beauty is Truth, Truth Beauty . . ." quoted the 1963 Milestone from Keats, and the yearbook sought to display the majesty of the growing campus and its surroundings.

Progress at Eastern Day, said the Milestone, "was an official salute to ever-advancing Eastern." Governor Bert Combs and other notables spoke and ground was broken for Todd and Dupree halls, proudly announced as the state's tallest dorms. Ground was also broken for a million dollar addition to the library and the Combs Building. It ended up costing three million dollars, as these plans were scrapped in favor of complete reconstruction.

That winter, Weaver Gym saw its last use as a basketball arena. Eastern basketball teams won 225 and lost 51 there in 31 years.

1961-62 Top: "One year in eleven is enough to be without the familiar rifle," said the Milestone as Dr. Martin accepted the "Old Hawg Rifle" from Dr. Adron Doran after a football win over Morehead. The tradition has since been discontinued. Above: Jim Baechtold gets a victory ride off the floor after Eastern won its first game for him as head coach.

Later, when the beams were up again, a workman would fall 81 feet to his death.

A Growing Eastern 'Emerges From Its Cocoon'

"The butterfly of Eastern has emerged from a cocoon and in four years, its image to the outside world has grown with eminence," stated the 1964 Milestone, as it presented the "Wonderful World of Eastern" as its theme.

Alumni Coliseum, after two years of construction marred by disaster, was thrice dedicated—as classroom building, lecture hall, and athletic arena.

President Martin was honored by the Kentucky Press Association, which named him "Kentuckian of the Year" in 1964. And, Glenn Presnell resigned his position as head football coach to become athletic director. His teams had won two OVC titles, an accomplishment no other Kentucky school had done before that time. His successor, Roy Kidd, would make the Colonels a dominant force in the league.

Milestone editor Jay Roberts proclaimed in the opening section of the 1964-65 yearbook: "We are here for one purpose; we are students. Behind our talk of beauty and greatness, underlying all of our visions of Eastern, is the realization that we must educate ourselves to a higher degree than our fathers would have dreamed possible. We need this education because there are questions which must, at last be answered, and still others which we must dare ask."

And, beneath the sheen of an OVC basketball championship, the naming of an Eastern coed as Miss Cheerleader U.S.A. and the completion of the Combs Building, Eastern began an academic and administrative reorganization and streamlining that would lay the groundwork for the most dramatic development of the decade.

1963-64 Just as Weaver Gym was opened and closed against Louisville, so was Alumni Coliseum as Eastern scored a 78-65 victory over the Cardinals.

University Status Punctuates Development

"Growth" was the theme of the 1965-66 Milestone, which featured a special report on the event that culminated all prior growth at Eastern—the granting of University status by the Kentucky Legislature.

In January, 1966, the Governor's Commission on Higher Education had recommended that Eastern and the other large state colleges be renamed state universities. Eastern students, faculty, and alumni lent their support to the proposal, and House Bill 238 to rename Eastern, Western, Murray and Morehead swept through the House 83-0 and the Senate 29-6. Governor Edward T. Breathitt signed the bill into law February 27, 1966, less than 24 hours after it had been passed by the Senate.

President Martin, a moving force behind the legislation, called the measure "the most significant event in the history of education in Kentucky."

University status became effective for Eastern July 1, 1966, bringing about the renaming of Eastern's schools to Colleges, and paving the way for some of the most significant advances in the school's history. Since the granting of university status, Eastern's growth has become more pronounced in terms of quality—programs and faculty—than ever before.

The name change wasn't the only development during the '65-'66 year. Students struggled with a library that was scattered over the campus while the John Grant Crabbe Library was being reconstructed.

Eastern marked its 60th birthday in March of 1966.

1965-66

A big day came for Eastern when President Martin watched Governor Edward T. Breathitt sign the Bill redesignating Eastern as a University February 27, 1966.

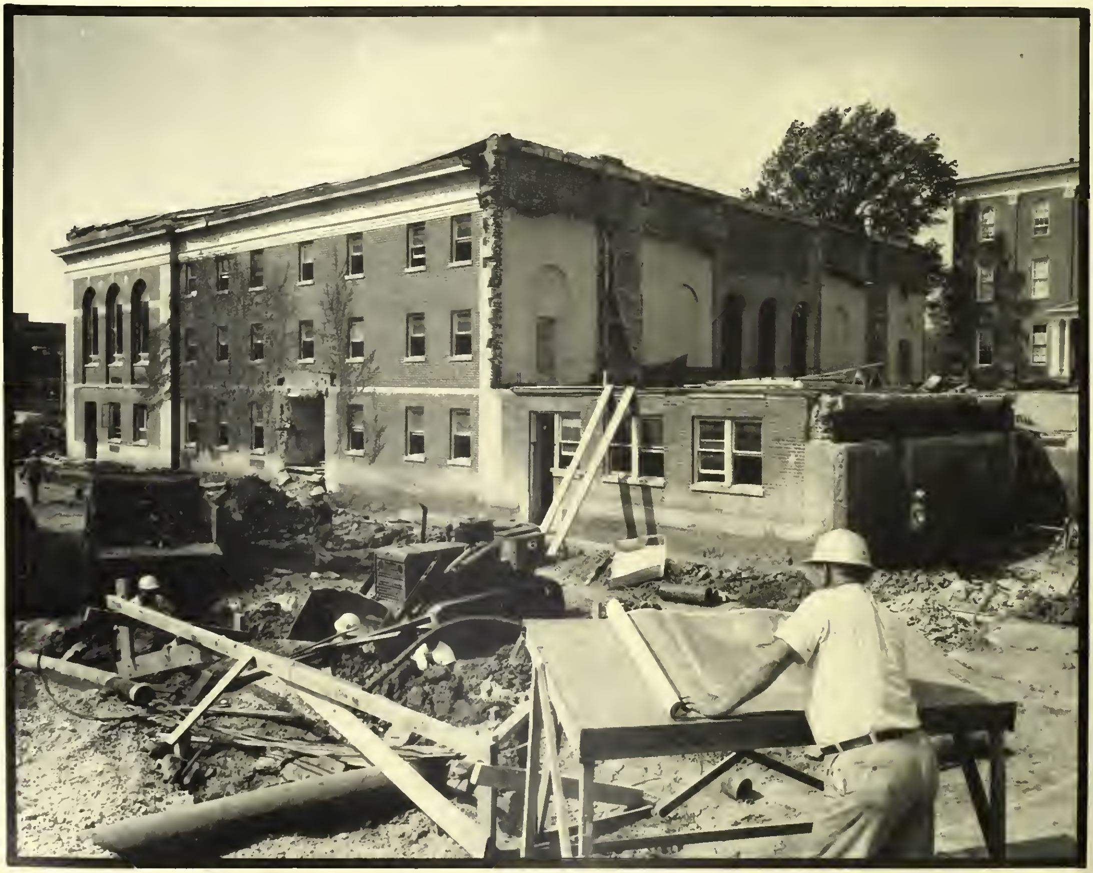
Library Rebuilding Strengthens 'Academic Pulse'

Sporting the second special report in as many years, the 1967 Milestone reported the completion and dedication of the John Grant Crabbe Library, which had been quadrupled in size to a 500,000-volume capacity. The Milestone called the rebuilt library the "academic pulse" of the University.

"Eastern Goes Greek," screamed the headline as the coming of Greek life to the campus was reported. Four sororities and seven fraternities began the Greek community at Eastern, marking a significant step in the social development of the University.

The 1968 Milestone editorially blurted, "Collectively we were the student body of Eastern Kentucky University—not a very rebellious mass, but one engulfed in traditional rituals sadly tinged with apathy. We were a society of conformists and a few dissenters meshed together; we were like a giant patchwork quilt being pulled in one direction, then another, trying to discover a way. We were convincing ourselves, and others, that we were where we belonged and that we belonged where we were." The editors asked "Why," and student awareness began to come of age at Eastern.

Ground was broken for a new physical-education-athletic stadium facility, while in old Hanger Stadium, the football Colonels swept to the Ohio Valley Conference crown, going on to win the NCAA Mideast title in the Grantland Rice Bowl.



1966-67 The John Grant Crabbe Library, here under reconstruction, was rededicated with a capacity of 500,000 volumes.

Student Relationships Given Thorough Study

"The Spirit of Youth," both that of student and institution, was extolled by the 1969 Milestone. "This very spirit is Eastern's mantle," said the Milestone as it began to report the spirit of a University and a year that was, indeed, a year of the student. Student relationships in the University community and academic rights and responsibilities were under study, and meaningful documents—the Powell and Stovall reports—were approved before the year was out.

Plans were completed and work was begun on a new University Center, which will become the center of campus social life. The Century Fund passed a $200,000 goal in its drive for funds for the Chapel of Meditation, and work began on a new classroom building.

While the EKU football squad took a second straight OVC title in Hanger Stadium, the new stadium went up . . . ever so slowly.

1968-69 President Martin's portrait epitomized Eastern's "Spirit of Youth" in the '69 Milestone, as Eastern turned even more attention to student relationships.

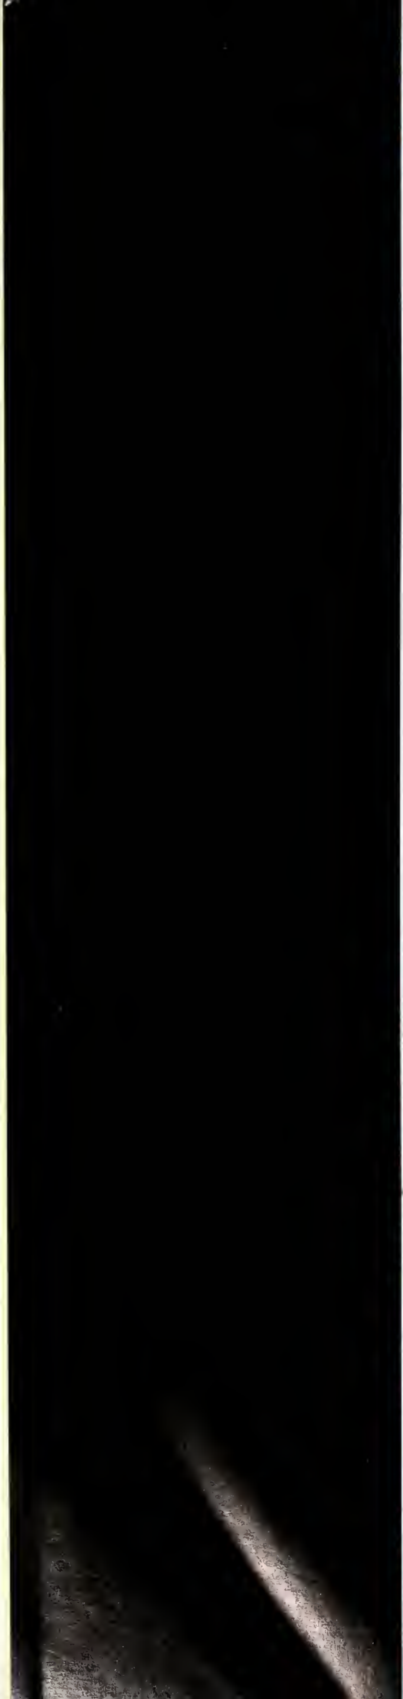
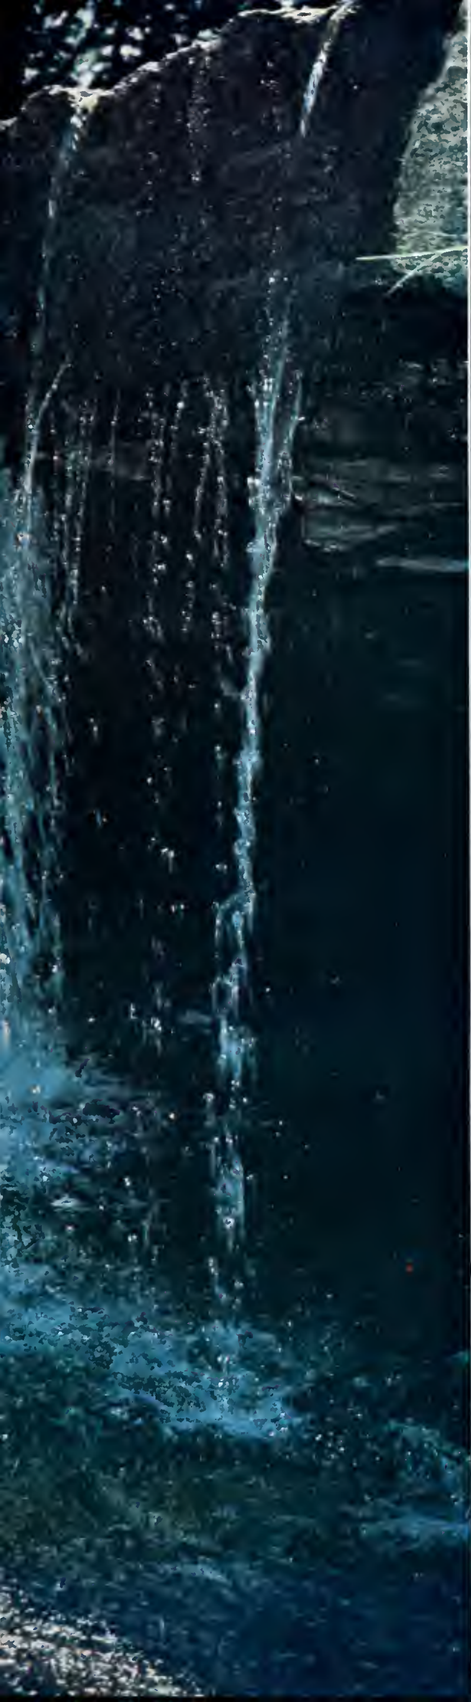
Understanding Emerges As Aquarius Dawns

The 1969-70 Milestone has devoted its pages to the reporting of the "dawning of the Age of Aquarius" at Eastern. The age of understanding was evidenced, in part, this year by the assumption of meaningful roles in the affairs of EKU by members of the student body.

It was also a year of a record enrollment, a record homecoming and a record winter cold.

And meanwhile, the stadium construction continued . . . ever so slowly.





BEAUTIES

Miss Kentucky

Louisa Ann Flook

Statuesque Louisa Ann Flook's name rhymes with look. So does Louisa Ann Flook, the reigning Miss Kentucky.

Climax to a series of successes for Louisa came last fall in Louisville when she was crowned as the Commonwealth's representative in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City. She wore Kentucky's, Richmond's, and Eastern's banner proudly.

Runner-up in the 1968 Miss Ohio Pageant, the green-eyed, blond Louisa, from New Carlisle, Ohio, was Eastern's '68 Homecoming Queen and the 1969 Miss Richmond. A junior history major, she is active in several campus organizations. The congenial lass is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, the Pan Hellenic Council and the Eastern Concert Choir. She has also served as a member of the Eastern Reserve Officer Training Corps sponsor unit.

The Milestone is proud to give you a closer look at Miss Flook, Eastern's own Miss Kentucky.

Miss Kentucky

Lovely Louisa combined her natural charms and a dramatic monologue for her triumph in the Miss Kentucky contest, which draws to a close (below) as Louisa and Miss Gayle Anne Lyon, First Runner Up, await the announcement that will send one of them to Atlantic City. Bottom: Eastern's stately blonde carries Kentucky's banner as she displays her beauty and talent in the Miss America Pageant.

Homecoming Queen

Deborah Cox

Lovely Miss Deborah Lynn Cox, a freshman from Anchorage, reigns as 1969 Homecoming Queen.

An elementary education major, "Debbie" was sponsored by Case Hall and chosen a finalist in a campus-wide student election. An off-campus panel of judges made the final decision based on beauty, poise, and personality.

In 1968 Debbie was crowned Miss Friendly Smile USA in a national contest sponsored by Coca-Cola. She is now serving on the student loans committee

Queen Athena

Donagene Branham

Queen Athena, goddess of skill, wisdom, and warfare, is Miss Donagene Branham, a junior public health major from Paintsville. As Queen, Donagene will serve as ROTC Brigade Sponsor and Sponsor Commander next year.

Queen Athena was selected by the Association of the United States Army and the ROTC advanced course cadets. Donagene was crowned at the Senior Military Ball, which is traditionally held in March to honor the new Queen.

Before being crowned queen, Donagene was sponsor for the Pershing Rifles Company. She is also an Eastern cheerleader, a member of KYMA, and Chi Omega sorority.

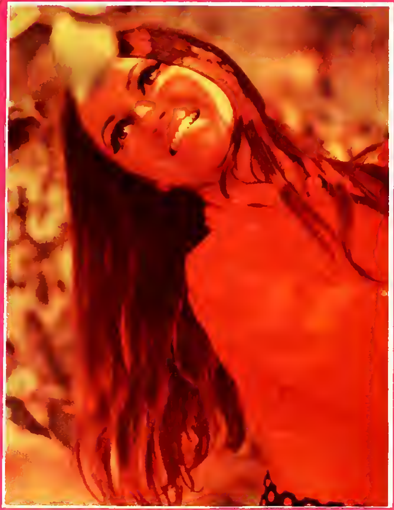
Miss Milestone

Olive Falcone

Fairest of them all, say the MILESTONE editors, is Miss Olive Marie Falcone, who is awarded the title, MISS MILESTONE.

Olive, whose uncommon good looks and vivacious personality qualify her as representative of Eastern's beauty, is a freshman from Louisville.

And we can be sure that our children will be in pretty hands because she's an elementary education major.



Miss Photogenic

Beverly Ard

If a picture is worth 10,000 words, here's at least 40,000 beautiful ones. The most photogenic of the Eastern coeds clicked by the MILESTONE cameras this year, in the opinion of those who did the clicking, is Miss Beverly Donna Ard.

Although the photographers admit a degree of difficulty in making the selection, readers who view this page will have no difficulty in enjoying these delights.

Incidentally, Bev's a sophomore business major from Ferguson and she lives at Walters Hall.

Campus Beauties

Beauty does not always wear a crown. It is a special intangible quality which depends upon the beholder, upon his ability to recognize and enjoy a smile, a gesture, or a graceful pose. It may be found in the girl next to you in class, in the twinkle of that special person's eyes, or in the bounce of her hair as a coed scampers through the ravine.

Some may not see beauty in all these trivialities. For those who have been too careless to look beyond the beauty of the campus queen, the Milestone camera has captured the loveliness of only a small representation of Eastern's beauty.

Nunn Administration Boosts Education

Governor Louie B. Nunn passed the midpoint of his administration this year, completing his second year in the Kentucky statehouse with a record of continued service to education.

A native of Glasgow, Governor Nunn has been an advocate of educational advances at all levels in the Commonwealth, budgeting nearly 70 per cent of state expenditures for Kentucky's schools.

A frequent visitor to the Eastern campus, Governor Nunn received the honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Eastern in 1968, when he announced that his administration would put "a premium on education."

He has served as Kentucky chairman in campaigns of President Richard M. Nixon, the late President Eisenhower and Senators John Sherman Cooper and Thruston B. Morton. Chairman of the board of elders and deacons of the First Christian Church of Glasgow, he is a leader in many civic and professional organizations.

Board of Regents Approves Major Policies

oard members and President Martin take time out from a board meeting to enjoy the Homeoming Parade.

Eastern's official governing body, the Board of Regents, played an integral role in many key developments which resulted in improved student-faculty-administration relationships during the 1969-70 year.

The enactment of several important measures by the Board had a direct effect on student life at the University. Among the important actions were the approval of the Powell Report on Student Relationships, the Stovall Report on Academic Rights and Responsibilities, the revised requirement for enrollment in military science, and a pass-fail grading system.

The Board also continued Eastern's expansion and development of academic programs through the reorganization of the College of Education and the approval of new courses of instruction. During the year, the Regents okayed one new two-year Associate of Arts curriculum, six four-year undergraduate offerings and, at the graduate level, 10 master's level and three specialist degree programs.

Eastern's Board of Regents is composed of men who have distinguished themselves in private life, appointed to four-year terms by the Governor. Also on the Board are student and faculty representatives, who are selected by their peers.

The President

Dr. Robert R. Martin

President Martin Ends a Decade of Achievement

A decade of service as Eastern's sixth president ended this year for Dr. Robert R. Martin. Marked by a continuance of the same rapid development that keynoted the first nine, this tenth year witnessed perhaps the most significant advances of all.

In an attempt to make 1969-70, indeed, the "year of the student," President Martin's administration subjected all phases of the University to soul-searching self examinations in the pursuit of improvement. The most active and deep-rooted upgrading came in the area of student rights and responsibilities where the President gave the implementation of two student-oriented reports the year's No. 1 priority.

First to admit that one of Eastern's most serious shortcomings of the last ten years was in student-faculty-administrative relationships, Dr. Martin points to the concentrated efforts this year and the construction of the new University Center as evidences of a serious drive toward improvement. The lag in student services was created by an enrollment increase of more than 300 per cent this decade.

The quantitative aspects of Eastern's growth continued unabated. Enrollment, building, numbers of academic programs, and all those other areas that can be dramatically shown maintained their upward climb.

Quality was evidenced in the nature of Eastern's responsiveness. New academic programs and services were added to meet the requirements of students and society, while improvement of existing offerings also received attention.

Other qualitative advances came in academic affairs where, Dr. Martin points with pride, the total faculty with the earned doctorate reached 37.9 per cent, compared to 23.4 per cent in 1964. The 173 doctorates on this year's faculty equaled the total number of faculty members ten years ago.

President Martin refuses to pick any one accomplishment as the most personally satisfying of his ten-year administration. "The things from which we gain our satisfaction," he said, "are those most challenging aspects of our work, and those problems that are continuing in nature. You can't say, 'Here, this is finished,' because the situation changes and develops day-by-day."

Dr. Martin continued to demonstrate his leadership abilities at both state and national levels. A force in the development of higher education in Kentucky, President Martin earned praise from the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, of which he is a Director. He was instrumental in the presentation of higher education's case to Congressional committees at a time when campus unrest across the nation threatened to strip education of much federal support.

The process of considering alternatives, weighing their merits and making a decision is a common action for Dr. Martin in the administration of the University.

Author of 'Powell Report' Promoted to Key Position

The redesignation of Dr. J. C. Powell from Executive Dean to Vice President for Administration was one of the changes in the administrative line-up this year. Among his other responsibilities, Dr. Powell was made overseer of data processing services and campus safety and security forces.

As Vice President for Administration, Dr. Powell makes annual and biennual reports of the university's budget. He also serves as secretary of the Board of Regents and takes an active role in numerous campus activities, both as administrator and participant.

Perhaps the one thing that Dr. Powell is best known for this year is the report of the Committee on Student Affairs which he chaired. Along with other members of the faculty and student body, he authored a report that states the exact position of the student in all campus activities. This "Student Code" was responsible for a complete restructuring of the area of student relationships.

Academic Rights, Responsibilities Proclaimed

The adoption and implementation of a statement spelling out the relative position of student and institution in academic matters was the major activity in the office of Thomas F. Stovall, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Result of a one-year study by a Presidential-appointed committee, the Academic Rights and Responsibilities statement was approved in June of 1969 by the Eastern Board of Regents.

Much of the report dealt with student and institutional recourse in the event that one failed to fulfill its responsibilities to the other. Another key provision placed voting students on all academic committees.

Another new feature of the academic program at Eastern was the passing of the pass-fail system, which became effective this fall. Under this system, students were encouraged to take courses they might otherwise avoid because of lack of background or concern for lowering grade point standing. Quality of the academic offering, faculty qualifications and instruction received continued scrutiny and improvement. Expansion of the academic offering continued as well. New degree programs were initiated, ranging from two-year Associate of Arts degrees to more sixth-year specialist curricula.

Office of Student Affairs Completely Revitalized

One of the most dramatic developments of the academic year was the near complete revitalization of the Office of Student Affairs. Two important studies accounted for increased emphasis in the student affairs area.

First of the reports was the internally-generated Report on Student Affairs, product of a committee headed by administrative vice president J. C. Powell. Establishing the concept of the student as citizen in a university community, the report placed voting students on all but one of a system of student agencies and committees. The lone exception was the Student Disciplinary Board on which a student vote is banned by state statute.

Implementation of the "Powell Report" was the first priority in Student Affairs this year.

The second report came from a study performed on campus by a group of visiting experts in the area of student relationships. The report basically pointed out that the Eastern student affairs office required additional personnel to service Eastern's growing student population.

Staff changes and additions also marked the activity in Student Affairs. Dr. Thomas Myers, Coordinator of Allied Health Programs, was named Acting Dean of Students. He later was appointed Dean. Mr. Donald Smith was named Assistant Dean. Dr. J. Howard Allen came to Eastern from the University of South Alabama to become Dean of Men. Another addition to the Office of Student Affairs was the appointment of Mr. Robert E. Tarvin as the Director of Student Activities and Organizations. And there were other additional staff members.

New Office Directs Research, Grant Programs

A new addition to the administrative structure was made in 1969-70, the Office of Research and Development. Headed by Dr. John Rowlett, former dean of the College of Applied Arts and Technology, this office kept President Martin, the college deans, and individual professors aware of the opportunities available to secure grants for research. Sources closely surveyed included the Department of Labor, the National Institute of Health, the Department of Justice, the United States Office of Education, and the National Science Foundation.

The University's Law Enforcement program has been one of the best examples of outside grant support. Eastern was the first institution in the nation to receive a federal grant from the Department of Justice, in the Law Enforcement Act of 1965.

Assisting Dr. Rowlett in his office was Dr. Dean Acker who is director of Institutional Research. Dr. Acker worked more closely with the individual professors in their attempts to secure institutional research grants. He also supervised the administration of the Graduate Record Exam, the Undergraduate Record Exam, the A.C.T. and other standardized tests.

Business Affairs Office Meets Growth Demands

The Office of Business Affairs, under the direction of Dean Neal Donaldson, continued to meet the business, financial and institutional service requirements of the University, a job made more complex by increased numbers of students and staff and a growing physical plant.

Improved health and life insurance packages for faculty and staff were begun at the start of the academic year, and Eastern continued to expand its program of employee benefits.

Instrumental in the preparation of Eastern's 1970-72 biennium budget request, this administrative office discharged specific responsibilities in the receiving and safeguarding of funds, accounting and budgetary control, purchasing operation and maintenance of physical plant, institutional services, housing, food service, and the campus bookstore.

Public Affairs Adds, Widens Services

Expansion of services highlighted a year of effectively presenting the Eastern story for the Office of Public Affairs under the direction of Dean Donald R. Feltner.

A concerted effort resulted in the expansion and improvement of information services to both prospective and enrolled students, alumni, news media, employers, school systems and educators through the various Public Affairs divisions.

A new program of newsletters presented pertinent information about the University to alumni, educators and the on-campus Eastern community. University-school Relations personnel stepped-up their activity in the field in a concerted drive to inform college-bound students about Eastern.

A successful Band Day event was held at the new Hanger Field, with more than 5,000 high school musicians participating, while thousands of other high school seniors visited the campus for High School Senior day and speech, drama, and music festivals.

Spending its first full year in its new Jones Building offices, the Placement Division was able to bring an increased number of graduating seniors in contact with prospective employers.

Alumni Affairs drew a record number of graduates back for Homecoming in the new stadium and also drew praise for Alumni Day activities in the spring.

The Century Fund neared a quarter of a million dollars and the Chapel of Meditation moved closer to reality with the final approval of blueprints and preparation of the construction site between the University Center and new classroom building.

Mr. Donald R. Feltner, Dean of Public Affairs, is responsible for all aspects of public relations. Adviser of both the Milestone and The Eastern Progress, he was elected this year as First Vice President of the National Council of College Publications Advisers. Below: One of the major Public Affairs-sponsored activities is Alumni Day, which annually draws hundreds of graduates back to the campus at commencement time.

Innovative Steps Taken in CUC

A "Learning Laboratory," course revamping and expansion were the chief developments in Central University College, which embodies the general education program at Eastern.

Begun in the fall semester, the "Learning Laboratory" was designed to help those students whose high school and test records displayed the ability to do college work, yet had troubles adjusting during their freshman year.

Course offerings in the various departments were further developed. A humanities course with special emphasis in subjective human feelings was begun and experimental approaches in social science were tested. Plans for experimental courses in freshman English were also made.

In an effort to prevent size from leading to impersonality, CUC continued to draw upon the faculties of the other colleges for a corps of advisors representing all academic areas. Students stay in CUC and receive its concentrated academic advising until they have met the general education requirements of their particular major.

Arts and Technology Continues With New Leadership

Under the direction of a new dean, the College of Applied Arts and Technology continued in high gear its two-fold mission of preparing individuals for technical occupations and teachers of technical subjects.

Dr. William Sexton, who had been serving as chairman of the Department of Industrial Technology, was named dean of the college when Dr. John D. Rowlett became the University's Vice President for Research and Development.

Dean Sexton assumed responsibility of the overall supervision of the departments of industrial education, industrial technology, agriculture, nursing, and home economics; the School of Law Enforcement, the Traffic Safety Institute, and the Kentucky School of Crafts.

The college administered a total of 47 program options to handle its 22 per cent enrollment increase. The School of Law Enforcement, which registered some 700 students in the fall, continued to be one of the most rapidly growing programs of the University.

Undergraduate programs of both two- and four-year duration were offered, along with the Master of Science degrees in Industrial Education and Industrial Technology, and the Specialist in Technology degree. In cooperation with the Graduate School and the College of Education, programs of specialization were offered in industrial education and home economics leading to the Master of Arts in Education.

More than 20 Associate of Arts (two-year) degree programs were also administered by the college.

Future plans in the college included anticipated movement into the ag-tech building, which was nearing completion in the spring, and construction of a law enforcement/traffic safety complex that will include classrooms, laboratories, outdoor test areas for driver safety and faculty offices.

Degree Program Additions Highlight Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences implemented three new degree programs this year and readied eight new curricula for the next academic year.

Degree programs offered for the first time this year included graduate level work leading to the Master of Arts in Political Science and the Masters of Public Administration. An undergraduate program was offered in broadcasting. A graduate program in chemistry was also begun.

Included in the eight new degrees to be offered in the 1970 Summer Session was a Bachelor of Science in Fisheries Management, Bachelor of Arts in Journalism, and the Bachelor of Arts in Regional Planning. Graduate programs to be offered include the Master of Arts in Education degrees with special emphasis in the following fields: Spanish, French, and earth science, and the Master of Science degree in Geology and in Physics.

A diversified range of study was encompassed in the 16-department college, offering degrees in 28 major fields.

In addition, there were four specific areas of concentration: art, English, social science and music. In cooperation with the Graduate School, the College offered Master of Arts degrees in four program areas; the Master of Science degree in three program areas, and the Master of Music Education and Master of Public Administration program.

With a broad variety of programs and multiplicity of fields, the College of Arts and Sciences offered opportunities for a liberal education not only to its own students but also to the students of other divisions of the University.

Dean Frederic D. Ogden is responsible for seeing that the 16 departments of the College of Arts and Sciences accomplish their goals.

Business Continues Comprehensive Program

The College of Business, headed by Dean Joseph Young, covered diverse areas of preparation for students planning careers in business management or the teaching of business.

A wide range was available in academic programs, including two- and four-year programs. The two-year curricula was specifically designed to provide specialized training for successful vocational careers, while the four-year degrees prepared students for positions of advanced leadership.

Students majoring in the College of Business received a liberal education as a base for specialized training in business areas, such as accounting, general business, electronic data processing, economics, finance, management, marketing, and secretarial science. The electronic data processing program was expanded to a four-year program this year.

The Department of Business Administration offered undergraduate study which led to the Bachelor of Business Administration degree. The Master of Arts in Education, with a concentration in business, was available through joint cooperation by the Department of Business Education and Office Administration, the Graduate School and the College of Education.

A new degree program was approved during the year—the Bachelor of Science in Distributive Education—which will become effective in the 1970 Summer Session.

Streamlining Revamps College of Education

The College of Education underwent a complete reorganization this year from a bulky, one-department, one-division arrangement into a streamlined organization of nine departments and a school.

The old Department of Education underwent division and received some additions to create the new departments of professional laboratory experiences, educational foundations, elementary education, educational psychology and guidance, library science, secondary and higher education, special education and rehabilitation, educational administration, and the laboratory school.

The Division of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Athletics was redesignated as a school with four departments —men's and women's physical education, health and recreation.

Dr. Dixon A. Barr, dean of the college, and his associate dean, Dr. Charles H. Gibson, supervised the implementation of the new organization.

Among the degree program offerings available for the first time was a certificate in kindergarten teaching. The master's in guidance was available with specializations in elementary or secondary education.

Sixth-year Specialist Degree programs were approved for addition to the curricula in the fall of 1970. They were in elementary education, school guidance and counseling and student personnel.

The Bachelor of Science degree in Special Education was approved for implementation in the summer session, with a Master of Arts planned for the fall.

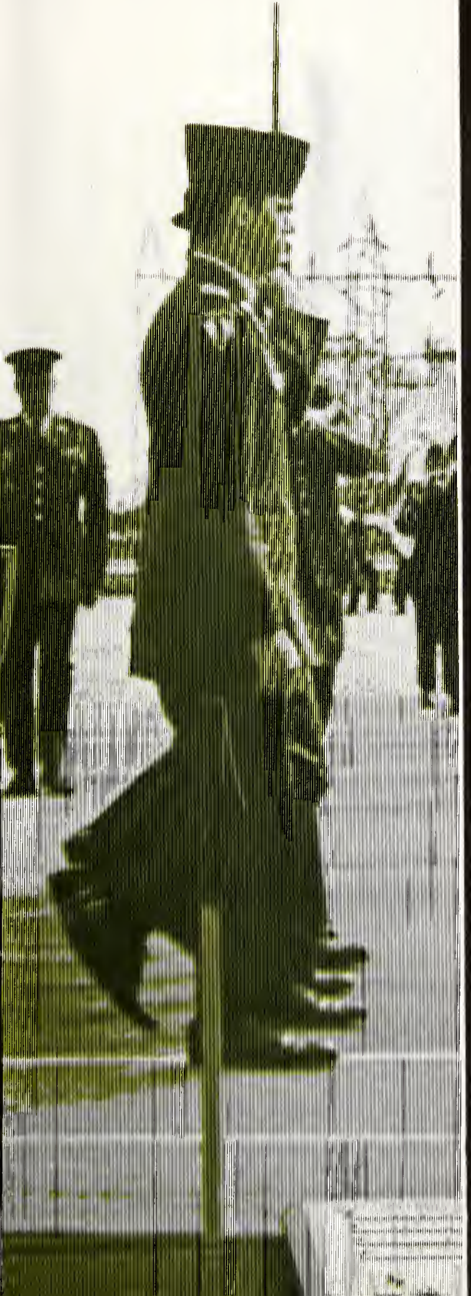
Graduate School Continues Growth

The Graduate School continued to be one of the most rapidly developing components of Eastern's academic structure, recording growth in both the breadth of the curricula and enrollment in 1969-70.

Two new graduate programs were implemented during the fall, and 10 others were approved. Students were enrolled this year in the new Master of Arts in Political Science and the Master of Public Administration, while the other 10 offerings were readied for the 1970 summer session.

The newly approved expansion included Master of Science curricula in criminal justice, geology, and physics. Also approved were graduate level concentrations in French, Spanish and Earth Science for the Master of Arts in Education degree, along with a new Master of Arts in Education in Special Education. Three Specialist in Education—elementary education, counseling and guidance, and student personnel—were also given the go-ahead.

Enrollment of graduate students increased by 15 per cent over the 1968-69 figure, becoming a more representative figure in relation to the total enrollment.



HONORS

Versatile Joyce Crossfield Named 1970 Hall of Fame Honoree

Upholding the tradition of excellence and dedication set forth by her eight predecessors is the 1970 entry into the Eastern Hall of Fame. Miss Joyce A. Crossfield, of Lawrenceburg, has distinguished herself as a scholar-leader whose unselfish contributions to the University, its people and programs, will long be remembered.

The '70 Hall of Fame'er was selected by a secret committee named by President Martin after nominations had been received from OAKS and Collegiate Pentacle, senior honoraries, and the Student Association.

Excelling in two rigorous programs, physical education and mathematics, Joyce has maintained a 3.87 grade standing in her major and 3.57 overall. She also represents the College of Education in the Milestone's Honor Roll and in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Although the personable Miss Crossfield has far from confined her campus interests to books and classes, her academic excellence has resulted in many high scholastic honors. As a sophomore, she was elected to membership in CWENS, the honorary for second-year students, and she served this year as president of Collegiate Pentacle, senior women's honorary. Joyce also is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, professional education honorary whose members are in the upper fifth of their class.

She has been an active member of the Women's Recreation Association, president of the Women's Officiating Services, a member of the band and the Eastern Dance Theatre.

The Milestone proudly salutes Miss Joyce Crossfield, 1970 entry into the Eastern Hall of Fame.

Honor Rollees Named Best in Each College

The 1970 Milestone Honor Roll represents the highest achievement in each of the four colleges, both in regard to a particular field of study and a displayed interest and contribution to campus activities.

Nominations were made by the college deans on the basis of high academic standing and leadership qualities. Each of the students selected for the Milestone Honor Roll was also listed in Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities for 1970.

The 1970 Honor Roll has a combined three year average academic standing of 3.655 and boasts an impressive set of leadership credentials. Topping the list are Business Education major, Miss Pat LaRosa, winner of the College of Business award with a 3.96 cumulative point standing, and Mrs. Gay Stewart, College of Applied Arts and Technology, 3.68. Mrs. Stewart is a Home Economics major. Arts and Sciences representative, Don Buehler, a History major, has a 3.41 standing.

The Milestone's 1970 Hall of Fame entry, Miss Joyce Crossfield, represents the College of Education on the Honor Roll. A Physical Education major, the versatile Miss Crossfield has a 3.57 overall academic standing.

Seniors Citations Reward Involvement

The Milestone Senior Citations is a six-year-old tradition on Eastern's campus. These awards are presented to honor those students who have shown involvement in campus life through their leadership and abilities in extra-curricular activities. Nine areas of University life are encompassed, including athletics, speech and drama, music, religion, student government, military, student publications, and Greeks.

Candidates were nominated by departmental chairmen, organizational sponsors, and athletic coaches. Final selections were rendered by a secret committee of faculty, administration and student representatives.

Who's Who Represents Eastern Nationally

Forty students were chosen this year to represent Eastern in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. These students distinguished themselves by their contributions to Eastern during their college careers.

A faculty committee nominated candidates on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship, and future potential. These were also the criteria for the final selection made by the national organization.

Each member received a certificate of commendation and his name and activities were listed in the annual publication.

Members of Eastern's national industrial education honorary traveled to high schools across the state for a recruitment program o bring these students into possible industrial education careers and college programs.

Eastern's former IE Society became the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Iota Lambda Sigma in May of 1969. Membership was also open to faculty members and graduate students in hopes of giving its members a better working knowledge of their field. OAKS and Collegiate Pentacle co-sponsored a coke party during Orientation Week for transfer students joining the campus body. OAKS also participated in the organization of the Honors Day program at the end of the year to recognize outstanding students.

Omicron Kappa Alpha is a national honorary that is composed of junior and senior men who have attained a 3.4 point standing and who have displayed strong qualities of leadership, fellowship, and service.

Scabbard and Blade Continues Traditions

Scabbard and Blade military honorary has several traditional activities throughout the year, including the saber arch for the Homecoming candidates, escorts for military functions, a Christmas project for a needy family, as well as programs composed of banquets and distinguished military speakers.

This national honorary places a high emphasis upon scholastic achievement and candidates are carefully chosen and installed at an impressive initiation ceremony. Before the installation they endure a pledge period of participating in projects along with activities such as flag ceremonies, conducting military classes and providing honor guards for special occasions.

Members of Scabbard and Blade Company execute a saber arch formation in salute to the club sponsor, Linda Broughton.

CWENS, National Sophomore Women's Honorary, and Kappa Iota Epsilon, Sophomore Men's Honorary, combined efforts during orientation week by being guides and presenting the Freshman Talent show.

CWENS served on-campus at faculty banquets while their work in a rest home and community center scattered their influence into the Richmond community. Other women were made aware of the club activities by attending the annual Freshman Women's Christmas Banquet.

Kappa Iota Epsilon, organized activities to help Freshmen in their first year at the University. The men of KIE set up a tutorial program designed to aid freshmen and held a social tea for parents of the Freshmen.

To qualify for membership in KIE, one must be a sophomore with a 3.0 average and a displayed interest in student life through participation in other campus organizations and activities. Selection is made by a committee of KIE members, faculty, and administrative staff.

Alpha Phi Gamma Builds Chapel Fund Pledge

Members of Alpha Phi Gamma supported projects to help them raise money for their Century Fund pledge. Plans were also begun for a journalism scholarship fund in conjunction with newspapers in the surrounding areas.

Delta Iota chapter members are chosen from the three student publications, the photographers, and the news bureau. Initiates must have worked on the publication for two semesters or have served in an editorial capacity for one semester.

Pi Tau Chi Backs Charity

Pi Tau Chi worked closely with the Interfaith Council in carrying out projects such as Meals for Millions, which helped to combat starvation and malnutrition in underdeveloped nations. The organization brought Dr. Frank Laubach, world renowned literary expert, to the campus, and generally encouraged an ecumenical growth in the campus community.

Pi Tau Chi is a national religious honorary society for recognizing those who have provided Christian leadership on campus. It offers challenge to the continued Christian growth of the graduate.

Miss Walter, Bowers Mr., Miss Popularity

Collegiate success encompasses more than earning a degree or making the Dean's List. It is also learning to understand others and to enjoy their companionship. Selected in a campus-wide election on the basis of popularity, personality, and poise in all aspects of campus life are Mr. and Miss Popularity.

Chosen in the election, sponsored by the Senior Class, were Mike Bowers, an art major from Springfield, Ohio, and Miss Sandy Walter, an elementary education major from Cincinnati.

Mr. Popularity is a member of Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Pi, SNEA and the Student Council. Also a section editor for the MILESTONE, Mike is president of the Senior Class. Sandy, armed with her eternal smile, makes friends readily. Miss Popularity is a member of Chi Omega Sorority, the Student Council, SNEA, Young Democrats and treasurer of McGregor Hall House Council.

ATHLETICS

Third Straight Title Eludes Colonels

The 1969 season was one of change. On the plus side was a new 20,000-seat showplace which replaced the antiquated Hanger Stadium and pushed Eastern football into a new era. There were many new faces in the starting lineups, a change brought about by the graduation of two dozen key players from the '68 championship team. It was one of those rebuilding years. For the first time in three seasons, the Colonels didn't dominate the Ohio Valley Conference. Roy Kidd's kids finished third in a season the experts tabbed as a time for Eastern to be an also-ran.

Although their unbeaten string in the conference was snapped at 14 games, the Colonels finished with a respectable 6-4 record, providing plenty of excitement and promise for a bright future.

Eastern's Bill March cuts inside on a quarterback option for a substantial gain.

Eastern's stingy defense holds off a scoring threat by Tennessee Tech just before the bands take the field for a halftime extravaganza during High School Band Day.

Lack of Depth Takes Toll

Ball State provided test No. 1, and the Colonels had to travel to Lexington to host the Cardinals. The new stadium wasn't ready, so Stoll Field became a "borrowed" home field. A stingy defense and sophomore tailback Jimmy Brooks made the difference as Eastern won 13-0. It was a nice foundation for the rebuilding process. But East Tennessee was waiting in the wings.

The Buccaneers were braced for their first step toward the OVC title. They were a veteran outfit still smarting from a close loss to the Colonels in 1968. Seven freshmen started for Eastern, keynoting the new look. Statistically, it was a stand-off, but the Bucs came up with the big plays and sent Eastern home with a 19-7 loss.

The Colonels returned to friendly Hanger Field the following week. Spurred by the running of Brooks and three touchdowns by Butch Evans, Eastern treated some 13,000 fans on hand for the first game in the new stadium with a 29-10 victory over Austin Peay. The new era had begun.

Colonels Up, Then Fall Twice

Two young but finely honed defenses matched talents at Middle Tennessee, and Eastern came out on top, 14-0. In fact, the defense scored the key touchdown. Big Sid Yeldell rumbled 57 yards with a blocked field goal attempt in the final minute of the first half to send the Colonels to the dressing room with a 7-0 edge.

Next on the agenda was Akron, one of the top college division teams in the nation. Although Eastern drew first blood, the Zips over-powered Kidd's injury riddled corps in the second half to post a 28-9 victory.

Homecoming attracted the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in the OVC. Some 20,000 fans jammed the new stadium as Eastern and Western knocked heads in their traditional rivalry. A late touchdown gave the Hilltoppers a 27-26 victory, marking the first time they had beaten Eastern since 1965. "It's like winning the World Series," said Western coach Jimmy Feix.

Although Western's Lawrence Brame had a pretty good day against the Colonels, Butch Evans made sure he had a ground-level view of this run by Jimmy Brooks. Below: Bill March unleashes a pass against Tennessee Tech with protection from guard, Tom Swartz.

Colonels Offer Thrills and a Promising Future

Murray was bent on revenge in their Homecoming match with Eastern. It never happened. Brooks was at his best, rushing for a team record of 188 yards and covering over 100 more with pass receptions. and Tennessee Tech's Larry Schreider. The Racers fell, 34-14.

Next came a showdown between Brooks and Tennessee Tech's Larry Schreider. Brooks out-gained his counterpart by one yard, but it took an outstanding performance from first team All-American Teddy Taylor and the Colonel defense to pull it off. Eastern won 17-7.

Indiana State, big and powerful, came to town boasting one of the top defenses in the nation. Before the Sycamores could flex their muscles, however, the Colonels had put two touchdowns on the scoreboard in rapid-fire order. Indiana State recovered to score two touchdowns of its own, but Ralph Gillespie's toe avoided a stalemate as Eastern won 14-12.

Morehead, psyched to capacity, ended Eastern's season on a sour note with a 23-11 victory.

Still, in the final analysis, the 1969 Colonels had a lot to be proud of, and even more to look forward to.

Teddy Taylor Reaps All-American Honors

His name is Teddy Taylor. In 1969 he was the finest college-division defensive middle guard in the United States. The Associated Press said so when it made Taylor the only Eastern player ever named to the first unit of its All-American team.

Taylor earned his recognition by averaging 17 tackles a game during his senior season. A team tri-captain, he was a three-time All-Ohio Valley Conference choice and twice an honorable mention All-American.

During his four years at Eastern, the Colonels went 29-10-2, took two consecutive OVC titles, the NCAA Mideast Regional Championship and the Grantland Rice Bowl, earning recognition in every national polling service along the way.

Slim Defeats Cloud Colonels' Title Hopes

The 1969-70 basketball season was a year of frustration and disappointment as a Colonel team that was considered a title contender finished with a 12-10 record and a third-place standing in the Ohio Valley Conference. Six of Eastern's losses were by a total of 18 points, indicating the close margin between good and great.

The Colonels were led by seniors Willie Woods, Boyd Lynch and Toke Coleman, all three-year starters. Rounding out the starting unit were Carl Greenfield, a returning regular from last season, and two promising sophomores, George Bryant and Billy Burton.

Home Court Losses Dim Bright Outlook

Within a week, Eastern played three OVC games in Alumni Coliseum that all but snuffed out any title dreams. The Colonels lost to Western Kentucky 86-83 but came back to dump Middle Tennessee 88-78. The tell-tale game followed. East Tennessee took advantage of weak free-throw shooting by Eastern to pull out a 77-73 victory in two overtimes. That made two league losses by a total of seven points, both on the home floor. It evened the Colonels' OVC record at 3-3 and gave them a 5-6 overall mark.

Colonels Go Under .500 Mark

Disappointment struck as the Colonels suffered two straight road setbacks, losing to Tennessee Tech in a game decided by a last-second, desperation shot, and to Virginia Tech by 91-74.

To this point, the season was a near disaster. Eastern stood below the .500 mark in both overall standing and in the all-important OVC race. But, the Colonels were able to regroup and salvage a winning season.

Attention centers at mid-court as players from Eastern and Murray poise for the all-important tip.

Colonels Overpower 7 of Last 9 Foes

Hallelujah!! The Colonels finally started on the winning trail as they won seven of their last nine games. Like Sherman's march to the sea, Eastern walked over its opponents in a devastating manner.

In the OVC, Strong's charges won five of seven, defeating Morehead, Murray, Austin Peay, East Tennessee, and Tennessee Tech, while losing only to Middle Tennessee and Western for the second time. During this stretch, they also handily defeated Canisius and Virginia Commonwealth.

The season ended with Eastern standing third in the OVC, compiling an 8-6 league mark and a 12-10 overall record. It was a winning season, but no championship came to Eastern.

Eastern's freshman basketball team had an impressive season against strong competition. Coach Jack Hissom put together one of the highest-scoring freshman teams in the history of the school in route to an 11-7 record. The sharpshooters scored over 100 points in six different games, scoring as high as 131 points against Centre.

The leader of the baby Colonels was Charlie Mitchell, the highest-scoring freshman ever at Eastern. Twice he broke his own single-game scoring record as he posted a season scoring average of 30.2 points a game. EASTERN KENTUCKY

With a new coach, E. G. Plummer, and the loss of All-American Grant Colehour, 1969 was a season for rebuilding.

The team, consisting of only two seniors with the majority being freshmen and sophomores, was led by All-American Ken Silvious who placed first in every dual meet and first in the Ohio Valley Conference meet. Along with Silvious, the most consistent runners were Jerry Kraiss and Gary Steen. Potential top scorers, Jim Nichols and Harold Burke, were hampered by illness and injuries all year.

Silvious, one of Eastern's greatest runners, placed eighth in the Notre Dame Invitational and first in both the Western Kentucky Invitational and OVC meets. He placed second in the NCAA Regional meet, fourteenth in the NCAA championships and returned with All-American distinction.

Eight Straight Crowns For Eastern Swimmers

Eastern's "electrifying" Eels splashed to their eighth consecutive Kentucky Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championship this year. The University of Kentucky was to pose a threat to the Eels' monopoly on the state championship, but Eastern managed to dunk all competitors, including UK.

The Eastern Swimmers ended the season with a 10-4 record, which was one of the worst seasons they've had in the past few years. According to Coach Don Combs, it was the best team that he has ever had at Eastern. But for three losses by a total of eight points, the Eels could have easily been 13-1. In those three losses, the last relay determined the outcome.

For some of the Eels the year lasted a little longer than the regular season. Several Eels, including Assistant Coach Dan Lichty's three divers, qualified for the NCAA championship and a chance to earn the distinction of being an All-American.

The clinched fist of Coach Combs symbolizes "push harder" as he demands maximum effort from his swimmers.

Shaving off the hair to reduce drag was a small sacrifice for Jim Schwarz, as he climbs out of the pool a winner.

Baseball 'Mudders' Post 13-9 Season

Eastern's baseball season started in the traditional manner: Rain. After three rained-out attempts, the Colonel nine took the field with a 6-4 first game victory over Transylvania.

In the next 10 games the Colonels played .700 baseball. Coach C. T. Hughes' batsmen dropped their first two conference games to East Tennessee, but bounced back over Tennessee Tech on the road.

The Colonels returned home with eight of twelve conference games remaining.

Eastern took a double-header from East Tennessee, keeping hopes for a title open, but then pitching arms stiffened and batting averages dropped. Two double-header losses were suffered at the bats of Morehead and Tennessee Tech, closing the door for any title hopes.

The Colonels then split their next four games. The season closed with a record of 13 wins and 9 losses. A winning season, but not exceptional for Coach Hughes, who has seen his teams win 10 baseball championships in the OVC's 21 years.

Thinclads Finish Second in Ovc

The Eastern track team, led by All-Americans Grant Colehour and Ken Silvious, both NCAA finalists, placed second in the OVC behind strong Western. Jim Wood and Wilbert Davis were also standouts on a squad laden with talent.

The Colonels competed at home only twice in dual meets, in which they literally ran Morehead and the University of Cincinnati off the track. The Colonels spent most of their time competing in prestigious relays around the country, such as the Ohio All-Comers meet in Columbus, the Knights of Columbus meet in Cleveland, the Mason-Dixon meet in Louisville, as well as the indoor NCAA meet in Detroit.

The OVC meet is always the climactic meet of the season, and here the Colonels fared well. Grant Colehour, the league's greatest distance runner, doubled in the mile and 3-mile runs—both in record times. Jim Wood captured first place in the 120 hurdles, while Wilbert Davis set a new record in the pole vault by clearing 15'-7".

Youth, Inexperience Yield Inconsistency

The 1969 golf Colonels were a young team, playing only one senior, with the bulk of the team being comprised of freshmen. The team was not without talent, and personnel-wise showed great promise, but the youth and inexperience created a problem of inconsistency which resulted in a 5-4 season.

The 1969 golfers were led by junior Paul Schultz and senior John Newton. Schultz managed an average score of 74, while Newton carded an average of 76 for the season. These two golfers helped the Colonels stay above the .500 mark in dual match play. In major matches the linksmen posted seventh in the Marshall University Invitational, tenth in the Murray Invitational, and seventh in the big tournament of the season, the OVC.

Gool and Riggins Lead 10-7 Season

Veteran Lindy Riggins and junior college All-American, Marty Gool, led the Colonels' Tennis attack in compiling a winning season for 1969. Both Riggins and Gool gained the singles finals of the OVC championship held in Bowling Green.

Coach Jack Adams' team possessed the talent needed for a tremendous season, but bad breaks limited the Colonels to a 10-7 year. Mike Barnes, a junior college All-American, suffered a wrist injury which kept him out of action for most of the season. When Barnes returned to action, he provided good, solid support in doubles. He teamed with Marty Gool in advancing to the finals in the OVC championships, where Eastern's netmen capped their season with a fourth-place finish.

Unseasoned Matmen Post 6-6 Record

Eastern's wrestling team displayed unity and desire as it compiled a 6-6 record during the 1969-70 season. Student Coach Ron House faced a big challenge in developing the team in its second year, following a four-year layoff.

The majority of the matmen were freshmen and they improved as the season progressed. The freshmen held their own against the long-established teams. In the State AAU Meet, Eastern had four champions: Dick Lowenstein (114 lb.), Kavoose Namazi (125 lb.), Joe Nell (163 lb.), and Ron House (198 lb.).

Gymnasts' Initial Year Records 7-2 Finish

In its premiere year as a varsity sport, Eastern's gymnastics team was a resounding success. Under the direction of Dr. Barney Groves and student coach Gene Gilbert, the flying Colonels were molded into winners.

In previous years, there was a gymnastics club composed of people with an interest in the sport. Dr. Groves sponsored the club which put on exhibitions for high schools in the state. With a growing interest in the sport, Dr. Groves was successful in getting the sport proclaimed as a varsity activity.

As the gymnastics season came to an end, Eastern's record stood at 7-2, a tremendous effort for the initial year. The season was climaxed by the Kentucky State Intercollegiate Gymnastics Meet in Louisville. The Colonels returned home finishing second only behind a strong University of Louisville team.

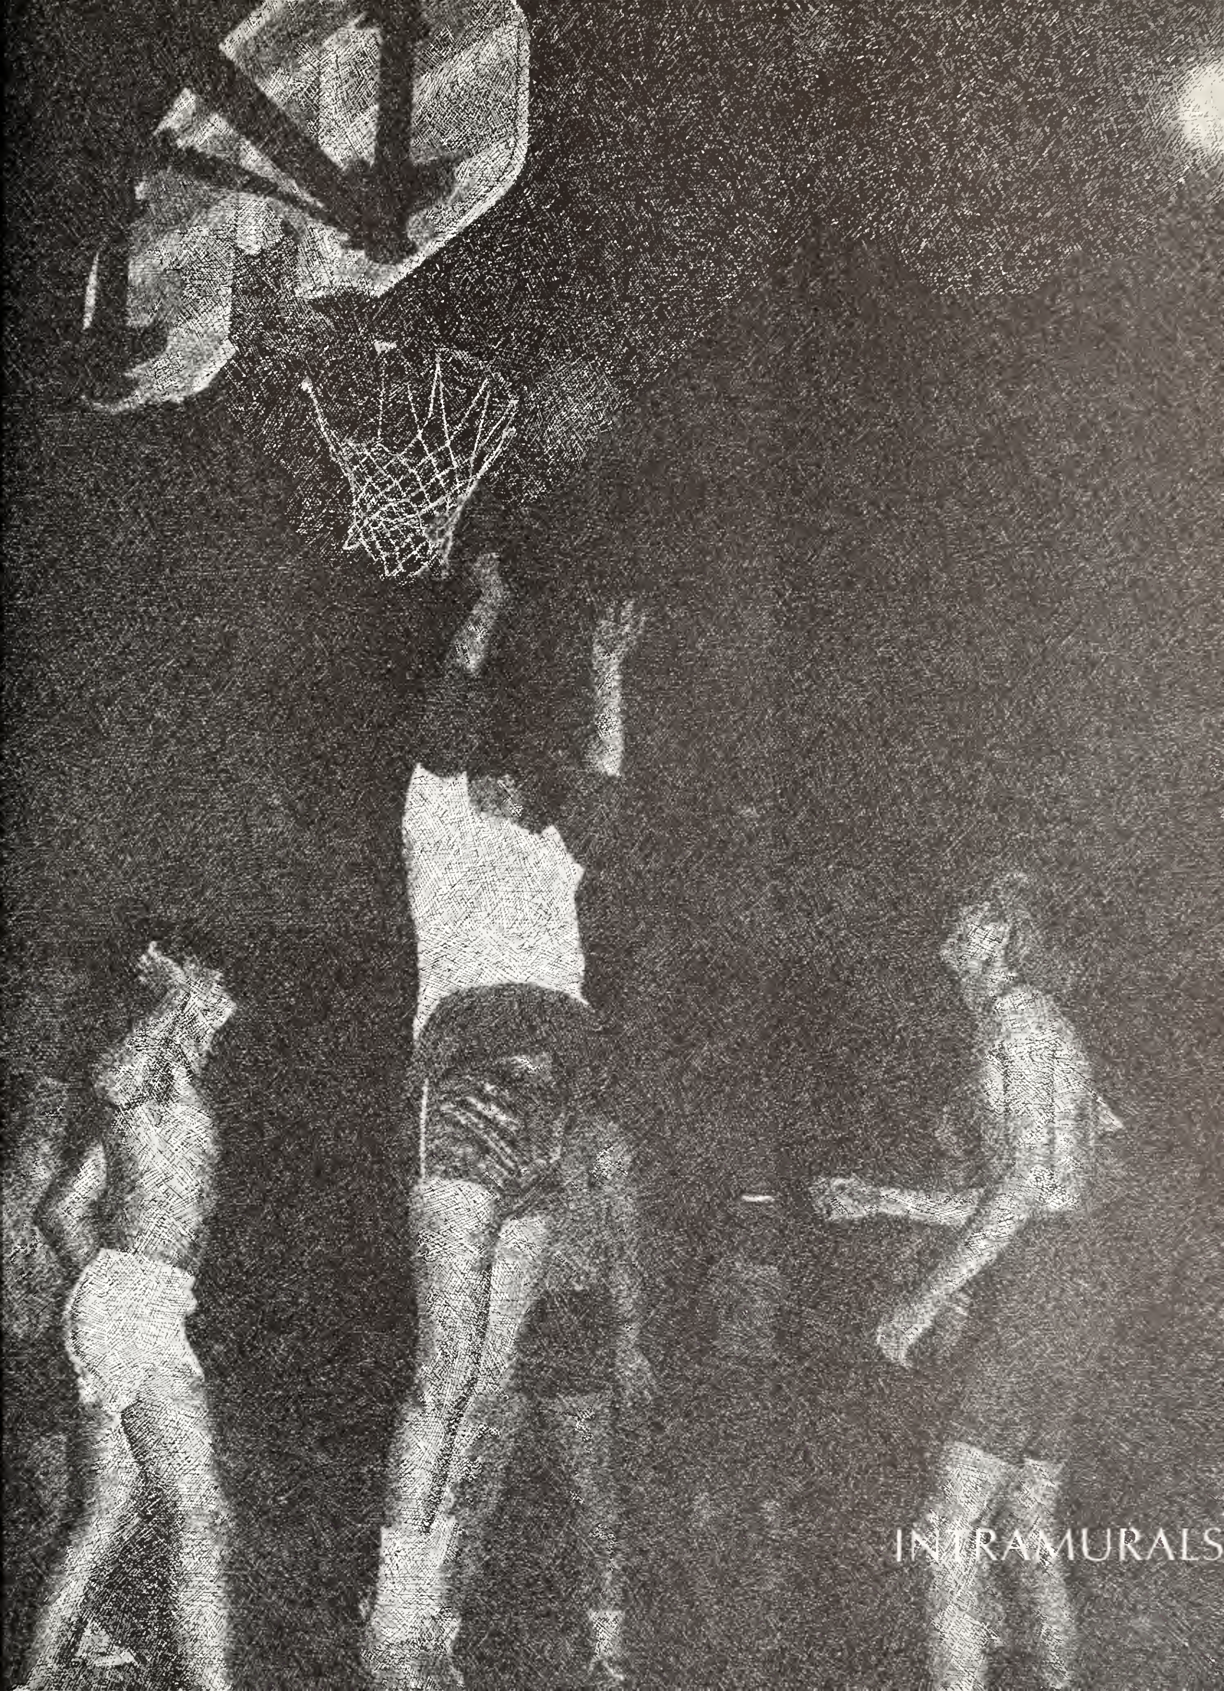
Two Lettermen Lead Marksmen

The rifle team was faced with the challenge of building a squad around only two returning lettermen, Tony Gruelle and David Carpenter.

Under the guidance of CPT Baker and CPT Von Allman, Eastern's marksmen were able to compile a 4-4 record against stiff competition. Eastern registered victories against Middle Tennessee, Xavier, Morehead, and Louisville. They lost to Murray, UK, Dayton, and Western. Eastern also participated in the Walsh Invitational Tournament in Cincinnati and the Kentucky State Tournament in Lexington.

Leading the young, inexperienced team were Gruelle and Carpenter. Only a few points separated these two sharpshooters at the end of the season.



INTRAMURALS

Intramurals Instill Competitive Spirit

Development of wholesome competition through enjoyable participation in physical activities is an essential aspect of a well-rounded college education. Eastern's intramural program, under the direction of Dr. Barney Groves, has become an integral part in campus life for the students. This year more than three thousand men participated in the program.

The program consisted of two divisions —fraternity and independent. At the end of each sport, the fraternity league and independent league champions met for the championship of the sport. Points won were tallied at the end of all competition and a campus-wide champion was crowned to climax the year.

A wide variety of activities increased participation this year in the women's intramural program, directed by Mrs. Mildred Maupin. Total involvement in the women's program was the goal toward which she worked.

Intercollegiate programs in field hockey and basketball were offered as well as intramural participation in soccer, basketball, tennis, volleyball and swimming.

Eastern's Student Association contributed to increased student involvement in the affairs of the University this year through its representative body—the Student Council—and the Student Court.

Representing the 9,654 members of the Association, the Student Council had as its first major task the nomination of student members to serve on academic and administrative committees of the University. This was an outgrowth of the Powell and Stovall reports, approved last summer by the Board of Regents, which placed student members on every University body.

The Council also made proposals to the University that were aimed at broadening the responsibility of students within the framework of the newly approved reports governing student relationships.

Another prime concern for the Association was the preparation of a new constitution that would be consonant with the statements on Student Rights and Responsibilities composed of the Powell and Stovall Reports.

Circuit Judge Addresses Court

The Student Court, organized under the constitution of the Student Council, heard cases relating to the constitution by-laws of the Council involving infractions of the University regulations in areas designated by the President. The majority of cases handled by the court involved traffic violations and were referred mainly by the Department of Safety and Security. One special conference was held at which time Circuit Judge Jimmy Chenault of Richmond spoke on the ability to sort out fact from fiction in trying cases.

Members of the court were appointed by the Student Council president or the Chief Justice of the Court from the previous year. Membership consisted of four seniors, three juniors, two sophomores, and two freshmen.

SERVICE & ACTIVITY

Veterans Send Xmas Cards to Vietnam

Alpha Sigma Upsilon sent Christmas cards to soldiers in Vietnam, acted as the homecoming color guard, and supplied wood for the Mulebarn fire place, as Eastern's veterans enjoyed an active year.

Alpha Sigma Upsilon, more commonly called the Veterans Club, was founded by the returning veterans of World War II. Throughout its history, it has played a varied role in the social and political activities at Eastern. The main purpose of the Veterans Club is to ease the transition from military to collegiate life, and to promote the spirit of fraternity and good fellowship among the ex-servicemen enrolled at Eastern Kentucky University.

Their activities also included distributing campaign material and helping in the Madison County elections. They also made needed repairs at the Community Center in Berea.

Reorganized in 1960 under Dr. Fred Engle, the College Republican Club is the largest in the nation in terms of membership. It promotes year-round participation in government and Republican politics.

Karate Club Teaches Art of Self Defense

Members of the Sin Karate Club learned self-defense through the art of Chinese Karate. Named for Grand Master Sin Kwang The, a holder of the 10th degree black belt, the EKU chapter was taught by two of Sin's students.

Eastern students acquired endurance, quickness and flexibility through the study of karate. Besides "empty hand" fighting, members also learned the use and defense of other weapons.

The club originated in November 1968, by an Indochinese student at the University of Kentucky and came to Eastern the next year.

Service Projects Keep KDT Sorority Busy

Kappa Delta Tau service sorority started their busy year on top by defeating ADPi sorority in the annual Powder Puff football game during Orientation Week. The sisters worked at polls for class elections and collected for Unicef in conjunction with Circle K.

Pledges and actives made Thanksgiving and Christmas cards and distributed them as they visited the Kenwood Nursing Home and the Pattie A. Clay Hospital. During the holiday season they also collected canned goods for a needy family and clothing for the Community Center. In the spring the girls visited wounded soldiers at Fort Knox.

In order to raise money for their various projects the KDT's sponsored a gas pump, a car wash, a bake sale, a slave auction, and worked with concessions at athletic events and banquets in the SUB. The She-Male Contest was held for the second year and some "hidden" beauties got the opportunity to display their talents.

The Kappa Delta Tau brunch gave actives and prospective pledges a chance to get to know each other.

Circle K Promotes Active Citizenship

The men of Circle K had a full schedule of activities for the year beginning with responsibility for running the warehouse during Homecoming week.

They co-sponsored a Unicef collection with Kappa Delta Tau service sorority and collected canned goods and "Toys for Tots" during the holiday season. Eastern's chapter was part of a Kentucky-Tennessee District group which sponsored Americanism Week in November to promote more active citizenship. Safe-driving leaflets were distributed on campus before the holidays and the club sponsored an Easter Egg Hunt for Richmond children as well as a clean-up campaign for local Boy and Girl Scout camping areas and lent assistance to the League of Women Voters in taking surveys.

KYMA Club, since 1939, has promoted the spirit of the students on Eastern's campus. The club sponsors the Eastern Cheerleaders and the Little Colonels Drill Team.

During Freshman Week the members of KYMA sold beanies and also served as guides to the freshmen. The Little Colonels Drill Team performed in parades, and at basketball and football games.

To further boost the spirit on campus and at the games, a "spirit stick" trophy was given to the group who showed the most enthusiasm at pep rallies, send-offs, and games.

'E' Club Launches 'Athletic Day' for Community Boys

The Varsity "E" Club is composed of male athletes who have lettered in any of the intercollegiate sports at EKU. Primarily a service organization, the "E" Club sold programs and ushered at all home football and basketball games.

In the spring the club sponsored an All-Athletic Day for youngsters in the Richmond area. Each member gave instruction and a short lecture on his particular sport. The Athletic Day was free to participants who also received recognition of their attendance at the event. After an athlete has contributed to the club and remained in good standing for three years, he is awarded an "E" ring which salutes him as a leader in his particular sport. The bearer of the ring gains admittance to any athletic event after graduation as a further recognition of his service.

"E" Club members can be easily spotted as they sell programs and serve as ushers at athletic events.

Women's Inter-dorm Provides Activities

Women's Inter-dorm Council, whose members are elected each spring from individual dorm councils, provides a medium of self-government for the women of the university residing on campus. It also helps to create and maintain high standards for the women students of the university.

The council made available to the women students such activities as teaching bridge and knitting. Various dorm parties are given throughout the year. In December each dorm held a Christmas program.

Men's Inter-dorm Council Shows Films On Drug Abuse

Men's Inter-dormitory Council membership was composed of individual dormitory officers along with counselors and representatives from their respective dormitories. In March the council provided a film series concerning drug or narcotic abuse for men students on campus.

The council met each month to propose ideas and work for improvement of living conditions and study habits within the men's residence halls.

FELLOWSHIP

Interfaith Council Brings Cartoonist to Campus

The Interfaith Council set as its goal to be a liaison to draw the various religious organizations on campus closer to a united body. It began the year by handling the religious preference cards distributed during registration and sponsoring the Vesper service held for freshmen during orientation week. The major project of the year was the bringing of Reverend Palmquist, a Snoopy cartoonist, to campus.

The Council participated in collecting clothing for a community center drive and tutoring for the GROWTH program. In addition, they planned the Easter Sunrise Service and carried out a project of remodeling the county's old-age home.

The Anglicans, occupying The Lancaster House, enriched Episcopal students' lives on campus. Besides weekly prayer services and meetings, the Anglicans strove for student's understanding, not only in relation to himself, but also to the University and community.

A counseling service was available on a regular basis at the center, with a qualified counselor available.

Members held a dinner for the Episcopal faculty and also participated in a series of lecture-discussions on their position in today's society.

Projects for the surrounding community were considered a basic part of the organization and among these was a visit tc a local rest home where a prayer session was held.

Baptist Students Sent Out as Summer Missionaries

Christian fellowship and service projects drew members of the Baptist Student Union closer together.

Vesper services, conducted weekly, included students in panel discussions of timely topics as well as having slides and guest speakers.

The Young Women's Auxiliary, a missionary portion of the organization, met regularly for dinner and also for special projects to further the organizations influence on campus.

Another organization within the B.S.U., the choir, went on tour during the year. The money obtained from the tour was used to support a summer mission program. This program sent students to serve in areas of financial and spiritual need.

Other activities sponsored by the B.S.U. for the benefit of their fellow students included a regularly operating Coffeehouse, offering entertainment and relaxation, a Halloween party, a Christmas party, and a spring banquet which concluded the year's activities.

As part of a program combining fellowship and service, members of the BSU make use of the recreational facilities available to them at their center.

The Newman Club provided both service and fellowship programs for the Catholic students on campus. The members of the club participated in the GROWTH program and weekend trips were taken to the Appalachia area for volunteer work.

The special event of the year was the annual Mardi Gras Dance held in the spring in the Student Union Building Cafeteria.

As money-making projects the club sponsored spaghetti dinners and car washes.

Working in conjunction with the Presbyterian Church, the Westminster Fellowship sought to create an atmosphere of stimulating discussion with various student and faculty speakers throughout the year. Their fall and spring retreats to the local church camp included as their discussion leaders, ministers from other denominations in an attempt to unite the religious communities at Eastern.

The major projects of the year were a Thanksgiving dinner for foreign students on campus and the traditional Christmas caroling party throughout the community, in addition to participation in the live nativity scene sponsored by all the religious organizations on campus. The members took part in presenting the vesper service during orientation week and volunteered time to the GROWTH tutoring program.

The Young Women's Christian Association promoted Christian spirit throughout the campus and community by helping others. Their programs consisted of tutoring, recreation, and handicrafts.

Members of the YWCA attended the national and regional conferences held in Missouri and Georgia in order to get ideas that would better their organization. Each year the club is responsible for the traditional "Hanging of the Greens" and the sunrise service on Eastern's campus.

For the first time YWCA joined the Interfaith Council on campus and helped them sell greeting cards and stationery. In order to boost their own fund, the members of the club made and sold cushioned bed pillows.

Athletes Become Big Brothers

Fellowship of Christian Athletes provided "Big Brothers" for the underprivileged children of the Richmond area. The members took the children to various sporting events and provided fellowship opportunities to them. During the year films concerning the concept of the club were shown to all members. The club also sponsored speakers which included the Reverends Blakemore, Scott, Goodlow, Palmquist, and McSwain. At various religious programs the members were called upon to usher. They also collected clothes for the Welfare Association.

More Riddles
By Bennett Cerf

The Greater Richmond Opportunity for Wider Tutorial Help, more commonly known as GROWTH, gained momentum during this school year as a result of many months of extensive planning. Begun in December, 1968, this program was organized to coordinate the various tutoring groups sponsored by campus organizations into a joint project which could do a more effective job.

Nearly 60 campus volunteers worked with Richmond children needing tutoring in particular areas. The children were able to improve their school work, and many times found a friend in a college student to whom they could turn. At the same time, Eastern students gained invaluable experience in working with these children.

Accounting Club Plans Membership Drive

The Accounting Club sponsored several field trips to firms such as IBM, Square D, and General Electric Company during the year to promote a better interest and understanding of the business world. The club planned and organized a membership drive which will take effect next fall.

At each meeting a guest speaker was present who brought members' attention to the importance, needs, and the opportunities available in their field of accounting.

Agriculture Club Gives Five Work Scholarships

The Agriculture Club held monthly meetings at which they heard speakers on agricultural topics, including the relationship between tobacco and cancer and the effects of urban development on the production of land.

Work scholarships of 150 dollars each were given to five agriculture students. The students were required to work either on the farm or in the greenhouse to earn the money provided by the scholarships and also gain experience in his area of interest. In November, the club held a talent show for the members with prizes of ten, seven, and five dollars being awarded to first, second and third places respectively. In February the club took a trip to Louisville where they observed the National Farm Machinery Show and Tractor Pulling Contest.

ACE Cultural Groups Work With Richmond Schools

The opening program for the Association of Childhood Education this fall brought to campus a guest speaker who was a specialist in teaching reading skills to the elementary child. Another program centered around panel discussions on the disadvantaged child and the role of the student teacher. As a service, the members of ACE divided into smaller groups in music, art, plays and games, and dramatics to work with children in the Richmond elementary schools.

Representatives of the organization attended several conferences. A state confab was held in Paducah at which Eastern representatives presented a skit. National conventions were held in Washington, D. C. and Atlanta.

Biology, Chemistry Clubs Feature Speakers

The Eastern Chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society showed films provided by various chemical firms at their meetings. The chapter heard several speakers including Dr. Ralph Thompson, who spoke on the population explosion and Dr. Ernest E. Byrn, who gave a magic demonstration. In March the club attended a meeting of the American Chemical Society in Louisville.

Activities for the Biology Club included sponsoring the Audubon Society films and several one-day outings at places such as the Berea Woods. They showed films at their meetings and in November Dr. Branley Branson was a guest speaker. The club assisted in the Conservation Fair held in the fall; and in the spring held its annual weekend outing of camping and field trips.

Caduceus Club Tours Atomic Plant at Oak Ridge

The Caduceus Club began its activity with a fall trip to Oak Ridge, Tennessee, where members visited the site where the first atomic bomb was manufactured, a nuclear museum, and a hospital that uses radioactive isotopes for treatment. The club helped the student nurses during blood mobile visits and maintained a first aid station during Band Day.

The members also visited the University of Louisville Medical School and Eli Lilly Drug Company in Indianapolis. The club supported the University Emergency Planning System organized by Dr. Wilbur Houston and engaged medically oriented speakers at its bi-monthly meetings. At the end of the year the club held a banquet and presented awards to recognize worthy members.

Food — Nutrition, Home Ec. Clubs Host Conferences

The Food and Nutrition Club published a cook book and used the proceeds from its sale for a scholarship fund. The club was invited to Louisville by the National Restaurant Association for a three-day business conference on management. In November, it hosted a meeting of the Kentucky Diabetics Association and in January Wilma Robinson, state home consultant, spoke to the group.

The Home Economics Club made yarn doll pins and sold them on Band Day, and gave a tour of the Burrier Building and Turley House for Richmond Girl Scouts. At their meetings programs on adoption, marriage, the family, and professional jobs open to girls in the field were presented. The members aided in state work and hosted a state workshop. The installation of officers was held at the spring banquet and several members attended the national convention in Cleveland.

Pat Siler Honored in Student Nurse Contest

Club activity for the Association of Student Nurses began in October with a trip to the state convention in Louisville. For Halloween, the freshman members made favors for Kenwood Nursing Home and each month the members attended district meetings at various area colleges. Club representative Pat Siler was chosen as second runner-up in the Miss Kentucky Student Nurse contest. The club provides student help to the Madison County Health Department upon request.

December was highlighted by a trip to the Kenwood Nursing Home where members sang carols and distributed presents. They then adjourned to Lancaster for a party sponsored by the faculty. In January the club viewed the film "The Transplanters," after which a question and answer period was held with Dr. Linda Fagan, county health officer, Mr. Paul Fagan, lawyer and city police judge, and Reverend John Cavendish, rector of Christ Episcopal Church.

A candlelight capping ceremony, followed by a tea was held for the second semester students in February, and in March the members actively observed Kentucky Nursing Student Week. Two delegates were sent to the National Nursing Student Association convention in Miami Beach in April and later, in May, the club held their annual spring outing.

The Association of Law Enforcement was newly organized this year to provide law enforcement majors and minors a chance to delve deeper into the field of corrections. Beginning the year, they had an initiating banquet which will become a traditional activity.

During registration the members presented a police display in cooperation with the Lexington Police Department and also displayed shoulder patches of nation-wide law enforcement agencies. In December the organization sponsored a Christmas dance and social. A monthly newsletter was established as a better means of communication and the year's activities for this new organization rounded off with an end-of-the-semester outing.

Members of the newly organized ALEN discuss plans for expansion of their program as they look over their new credentials.

Music Fraternities Help In Opportunity Day

Delta Omicron, an honorary international music fraternity for women, promoted fellowship, scholarship stimulation, character development, and leadership training among its members. D.O.'s and Phi Mu Alpha, the music fraternity for men, joined together and gave several receptions for various performers who visited the campus by invitation. Also at Christmas they went caroling in Richmond.

Phi Mu Alpha gave a $100 Scholarship to the most outstanding male freshman music major. Phi Mu Alpha is the oldest and largest professional international honorary fraternity for men. Both fraternities gave service to the Music Opportunity Day, which was for high school students interested in coming to Eastern to major in music. Also both fraternities provide opportunities for public performances.

Polymathologists Provides Help Sessions In Math

The Polymathologists have been active in trying to get their club recognized as a chapter of Kappa Mu Epsilon, the national mathematics honor society. In November they held a faculty-student coffee. Each member was required to attend a problem help session every week to discuss their math problems together. In the spring they ended their activity with a club picnic. During the year they engaged speakers from the math department for their bi-monthly meetings.

HPER Club Initiates Summer Job Placement Service

In addition to making a float for homecoming and selling booster buttons at home athletic games, the Health, Physical Education and Recreation Club created a committee to investigate and organize a placement service. The club contacted the different recreational facilities throughout the country in hopes of finding summer jobs for its members. HPER held a fall welcome for both members and faculty with entertainment provided by the recreation section.

The club held a Play Day to which interested high schools were invited to participate in many sports and games. Members and their dates were invited to a night of sports and games in Weaver Gym. In February the club held a roller skating party in Berea for members and their dates and club activity was concluded by a spring steak fry.

WRA Serves As Recreation Board

The Women's Recreation Association began the year with a picnic at Boonesboro State Park as a get-acquainted gathering. In October, the group went camping to Camp Otonka in Versailles. Dr. Uhlir, head of the Physical Education department, presented a program of slides on her trip to Alaska.

During the holidays the girls went caroling and took a tree and decorations to Richmond shut-ins. In January, the club sponsored a swim party and throughout the rest of the semester participated in other outings such as hiking, bowling, and camping. For a money-raising project, WRA sold tickets to Catalina Club shows.

The WRA sponsors recreational programs and activities, such as the swim party, for university women.

Gymnasts Perform At High Schools

After launching the year with a get-acquainted party, the Gymnastics Club members began traveling to various Kentucky high schools to present demonstrations for students. The group also participated in the annual Turners Invitational Gymnastics Meet against several schools including the universities of Louisville and Cincinnati, and Peabody College.

Eastern's Gymnastics Club was founded in the fall of 1966 by Dr. Barney Groves. Besides the time spent in preparation for meets and demonstrations, the club also had social gatherings for the members and their dates.

SNEA Strives to Improve Educational Services

In keeping with its policy of improving educational services in general, the Student National Educational Association engaged in several worthwhile programs. In an October program, a guest speaker, Dr. Charles Vice, field representative for the SNEA, spoke on the role of the Kentucky Educational Association. In November the club organized panel discussions entitled "The New Teachers," and December was highlighted by a Christmas program of carols and refreshments in Walnut Hall.

In other months, SNEA sponsored programs on such topics as audio-visual aids and non-graded schools. SNEA activity ended in May with a banquet held for speakers, invited guests, sponsors, and officers.

The Catalina Club, formerly Kappa Kappa Sigma, has enjoyed an active, 15-year-old history on campus. Members are skilled in the aquatic arts and perform precision movements to music. Tryouts were held for membership and thirty girls were selected in the fall to participate.

Several members attended the synchronized swimming clinic in October in Cincinnati and brought back newly acquired stunts and routines which they shared with other members. In May, after weeks of practice, the annual spring water show, "Splashes of Scents," was presented to capacity audiences.

Many hours of practice and preparation go into the production of the group's annual spring water show.

Music Department Represented By Performing Groups

The Symphonic Orchestra presented two concerts and one concerto which featured applied music majors who were selected on the basis of competition. A performance of Handel's "Messiah" was held in conjunction with the University chorus, as was Hanneger's "King David."

Formed in 1966 as a wind and percussion ensemble, the Symphonic Band made a special appearance at the Kentucky Music Educator's Association Convention in Bowling Green and performed on campus for the twilight concerts in the spring.

The Stage Band performed in a spring concert along with the Percussion Ensemble, under the direction of Dr. Gerald Grose. The group featured Dr. Brian Lindsey from the Humanities department, who wrote music and performed with the band. The Concert Band was open to music and non-music majors and was composed predominantly of freshmen and sophomores. Three concerts of music for the modern wind band were presented.

The Concert Choir provided an opportunity for the presentation of sacred and secular choral literature, unlike the large forms performed by the Oratorio Chorus. Three main concerts of the year were the fall concert with the Chamber Choir, the annual Christmas concert and the spring concert. The Chamber Choir went on tour in the spring, and also gave a special set of performances during the holidays.

University Ensemble Featured on TV'S March of Dimes

The University Ensemble, founded by a group of twenty-eight black students in 1967 under the leadership of Eric Abercrumbie and Reggie Walters, has grown to seventy members. Beginning as a Negro spiritual group, the Ensemble has developed into a popular, contemporary chorus much in demand by churches, television stations and concert planners. As a group these students decided to live their religion and spread the black culture through their musical talents.

Performing primarily for religious and school-related functions, their engagements have taken them across the state. They appeared twice on television, including the March of Dimes Marathon held in March. The Ensemble set as its goal the presenting of performances with meaning rather than for merely entertainment.

Drama Club Improves Theatre

In connection with the productions of the University Theatre, Drama Club members helped constitute the various technical crews and casts. The Little Theatre presented two programs during Orientation Week as well as several other productions throughout the year. The group did some redecorating and painting of the Pearl Buchanan Theatre and had box office duties for all major productions. They participated in the ordering, publicity and presentation of the International Film Series as well as a series of other selected films.

Club members served as assistants for the Regional High School Drama Festival held on campus and again gave a Christmas party for Richmond children including Children's Theatre production. The club annually co-operates with Alpha Psi Omega drama honorary in the Awards Presentation Banquet. At each meeting members participated by presenting readings, musical numbers and other forms of dramatic talent.

GREEKS

Greek: A Synonym for Involvement

Members of the eleven fraternities and six sororities on campus spent another productive year both on campus and in the community. This year there was an emphasis placed on building comradeship by participating in community and campus projects and a lessening of such practices as hazing.

The Greek system can be characterized by such words as belonging, exuberance, and fellowship. A desire to belong to such a system has its culmination during rush.

Rush Proves Trying . . .

Rush provides perhaps the most important function for Greeks. With rush, new members are added to replace graduating members and new ideas are formed to provide added impetus to the activities of the Greek system.

Rush is both important, yet perplexing to both active members of Greek organizations as well as to the rushee. The Greeks must decide which rushees best fit their particular organization while the rushee must decide which national or local organization interests him. The rushee must also decide whether he wants to belong to a party organization, an athletic organization, or one noted for its service projects.

. . . But Very Worthwhile

Pledging . . . Learning by Doing

Pledgeship is a learning experience in which each future member of a Greek organization must participate. Pledging means getting to know all the actives, making money for the organization, learning the history of a particular organization, and developing a feeling of kindred spirit with the Greek system. Pledgeship also means developing a unity within pledge class and getting known on campus.

Pledging . . . Earning By Working

Although pledgeship can be a frustrating experience at times, it is that which is remembered and cherished long after the pledges have been activated.

Greek Spirit Benefits Eastern And Community

Spirit is a key word in the Greek system. Spirit among Greeks not only means cheering at football games but also serving the community and university.

The spirit of ancient Greece is evident in the way Eastern Greeks carry on their various activities and the cooperation between Greeks within the system.

Greek Activities Spark Enthusiasm

An active Greek is a happy Greek. While the most spectacular activities are the skits and carnivals, Eastern's Greeks show as much enthusiasm for their many service projects.

Greeks Learn By Living Together

It is said that a person does not really know someone until he has lived with him. This desire to know and trust one's brothers or sisters is evidenced by the openness of fraternity and sorority floors. Seldom is a door locked; it usually is found open. The spirit of trust and of sharing is perhaps the most important idea in living in the Greek world.

Intramurals Bring Greeks Closer

Competition in Greek intramurals forms common bonds for all Greeks. Whether there is sorrow in defeat or ecstasy in victory, one shares these feelings with his fellow Greeks.

The physical benefits and sportsmanship in intramurals make the time and energy spent well worthwhile, for it is in athletics that many of the rules which can be applied throughout life are learned.

Greek Selectivity Breeds Content

Brotherhood, in the Greek sense of the word, is not a matter of birth but a matter of selection. When rushees receive an invitation to pledge from a fraternity or sorority, they are aware that they are given a bid because they are wanted for their own attributes, not because they have been forced on the particular fraternity or sorority.

Brotherhood means not only living together but also sharing together and helping each other. Brotherhood can be exemplified in anything from drinking a toast to helping a fallen comrade. Whatever the way, one always knows he is a brother because he was wanted.

ADPi: Initiates All - Greek Sing

Alpha Delta Pi participated in the Powder Puff Football game co-sponsored by Kappa Delta Tau and Sigma Nu during Orientation Week. The sisters worked together with Kappa Alpha and Sigma Chi to sponsor a Muscular Dystrophy drive. The 'Nearly-Wed' game was again presented by the sisters, generating enthusiasm and interest by both participants and spectators. Christmas for these girls meant a special party for themselves and their dates as well as a service project involving families of Richmond. The first annual all-Greek Sing was initiated by the sisters during the spring.

Alpha Delta Pi, a national organization, was founded at Wesleyan College in Mason, Georgia, May 15, 1851. Essentially a social organization, ADPi also represents character development in helping young women respect the privilege of a college education.

Alpha Gam's Win Academic Trophy

Alpha Gam's welcome to Freshmen came in the form of a fashion show presented in the ravine. The girls modeled their own clothes in an effort to familiarize women with appropriate dress for campus events. Homecoming was special for them because for the second consecutive year the first place trophy was awarded to them for their entry. Another addition to their list of honors came in the spring of 1969 when, for the third semester, they won the Dean of Women's Academic Award. During the holiday season, the girls donated food for underprivileged families. A "Roaring Twenties" party and a formal highlighted spring activities. And, there were the many plans necessary for Rush.

Gamma Omicron became the 100th chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta October 26, 1968. Alpha Gam's was the first national Panhellenic and international fraternity on Eastern's campus, originating from Pi Alpha Theta local sorority, formed in 1966.

Chi Omega Celebrates First Anniversary

Participating in the Kappa Alpha Slave Sale began a busy and involved year for the Chi O's. After working during Orientation Week, the girls continued their service activities by assisting in school elections, contributing to a clothing drive, and cleaning and helping to organize activities for Richmond's newest community center. The sisters of Chi Omega place much emphasis upon education and provide study rooms for the members. Scholastically, the girls placed second in the TKE Academic Bowl. A picnic, a Mulebarn party and the Spring Formal, as well as fall and spring rush kept the girls engulfed in social activities.

Gamma Theta Chapter of Chi Omega celebrated its first anniversary April 26. Chi Omega fraternity was founded at the University of Arkansas April 5, 1895. 1970 marked the fraternity's 75th anniversary and Gamma Theta Chapter, together with Chi O alumnae from the surrounding area, celebrated the event.

Delta's Adopt Child

Delta Theta's were proud to begin work on their first full year of participation in Greek life. During Orientation Week the Delta's helped 'usher in' freshmen and at Halloween the girls sponsored their first all-campus dance. Their Christmas party combined both social and service functions. Toys, purchased from admission receipts, were distributed throughout the community. Other projects such as adoption of a child in the rural south and writing letters to Viet Nam soldiers made the sisters' contribution of service meaningful.

Delta Theta was recognized as a local sorority in April, 1969.

KD's Combat Cerebral Palsy

During the year the sisters of Kappa Delta have made several collections for the Heart and Cerebral Palsy Funds. The pledges of Kappa Delta cleaned the Methodist Church and donated money to a needy family at both Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Chapter has as its local philanthropy the Cerebral Palsy children at Model Lab School. Each holiday both actives and pledges planned parties for these children.

Delta Omicron Chapter was the first national sorority recognized on campus. Kappa Delta was founded October 23, 1897, in Farmville, Virginia by four college girls who sought to promote true friendship among the college girls of America. One hundred and thirty chapters have since been established across the United States.

Greek Talent Show a First for Kappa Phi's

The Kappa Phi Delts sponsored a Vietnamese orphan through the Foster Parents Plan as a project that was conducted throughout the year. In October the Kappa Phi's presented a style show in coordination with Chi Omega. Collecting food with Phi Delta Theta brought the girls closer to Christmas and this spirit continued as they sent packages to soldiers in Viet Nam, gave a party for needy children in Richmond, and went caroling with Delta Upsilon. In the spring the sisters visited the Shriners Hospital and sponsored the all-Greek Talent Show.

Kappa Phi Delta became the fifth recognized sorority on campus in May, 1968, with a goal of individuality through sisterhood. Plans are underway for national affiliation.

Alpha Chi Alpha Joins Greek System

Alpha Chi Alpha, one of Eastern's newest fraternities, started its activities on campus with a great burst of enthusiasm. Service projects abounded with a visit to the Kentucky Village and a Halloween party at the Shriners Hospital. During the Christmas season AXA brothers decorated the lobby of their home, Todd Hall, and, not forgetting the children of the community, gave a Christmas party with Beta Omicron Gamma. Clothing drives and the collection of canned goods plus a cleanup and paint session at the Community Center were also included on their service list.

Alpha Chi Alpha was approved by the Inter-fraternity Council in the Spring of 1969 and attained its official charter May 5, 1969.

Delta Upsilon Wins First Academic Bowl

The '69-'70 DU calendar contained such activities as a swim party, a Pinnacle cookout, and the annual Bicycle Race in which all Greek organizations, campus clubs, and faculty members participated. The event included a four-hour marathon in addition to a number of individual categories. The brothers also sponsored a Halloween Party for the children of university faculty and staff members.

Delta Upsilon took first place honors in the annual Academic Bowl. First place was also achieved by the DU's in the intramural cross country competition.

The brothers of Delta Upsilon Colony were initiated November 10, 1968 and have continued the national DU tradition of being the unpledge fraternity. The fraternity was founded in 1834 and has since had over 100 chapters initiated.

Kappa Alpha Tops Year With Old South Week

The Kappa Alpha Order set a fast pace for the year during Orientation Week by sponsoring the annual freshman dance, selling "slaves" from each sorority, and iniating the first KA Carnival. The traditional Christmas Dance and Convivium, a celebration of Robert E. Lee's birthday, headed winter social activities. But topping the year's activities was Old South Week. A parade started the week's events and was followed by the KA girls' olympics, a campus Sharecroppers' Dance and the Old South Ball for the brothers.

Kappa Alpha worked with ADPi to collect money for the Muscular Dystrophy drive and held a party for children in the poorer sections of Madison County.

Alpha Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order was established at Washington Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, in 1865. Delta Mu Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order was initiated at Eastern February 15, 1969.

Phi Delta Theta Boasts First Man on Moon

Kentucky Theta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta began the '69-'70 school year with an award-winning Homecoming float entry. The Phi Delts' Homecoming Party was held in honor of Phi brother, Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon. An annual Summer Rendezvous, a Sweetheart Ball, a campus dance featuring the London Fog and the Continentals, a Roaring 20's party, and a spring softball tournament were among the Phi's campus and social activities.

Community-wise, the Phi Delts sponsored, in conjunction with Kappa Phi Delta sorority, a canned food drive for the Richmond needy. Phi Delta Theta finished high in the standings for the '68-'69 campus intramural sports trophy.

Phi Delta Theta was founded at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, December 26, 1848. Kentucky Theta Chapter of Phi Delta Theta was installed on Eastern's campus April 25 and 26, 1969.

Pikes Provide Big Brothers for Community Children

The brothers of Pi Kappa Alpha sponsored an Orphan's Day which allowed parentless children to attend a home football game. Visitation of children in hospitals at Christmas further extended Pikes' service projects of working with children. The brothers' contributions to the university included guiding during Orientation Week and serving as ushers for theatre productions. Social activities were highlighted by the Mother's Day Banquet, the annual Hell's Angel Party, and the Dream Girl Ball, as well as the Pike's Invitational Bowling Tournament.

Zeta Tau chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was chartered in February, 1969, from local Alpha Kappa Pi as the first national social fraternity on campus.

Sigma Chi Installs Beta Omicron Chi

During the year, the Brothers of Sigma Chi conducted a charity drive for victims of Multiple Sclerosis as well as an annual project to help the needy residents of Richmond. Sigma Chi's social functions began early in the year with a Sweetheart Ball. A Thanksgiving dinner and a Spring Banquet were both meaningful activities for the brothers of Sigma Chi.

For the Intramural season of '68-'69 Sigma Chi, then Beta Omicrom Chi, finished first in the fraternity division.

Beta Omicron Chi local fraternity became a chapter of Sigma Chi January 11, 1970. Sigma Chi was founded at Miami University in 1855 and has since become one of the nation's largest fraternities.

Sigma Nu Selects Campus Ugly Man

Active in both campus and community, social and service projects, Sigma Nu's Ugly Man Contest and work at Telford Community Center topped a bright year.

Spirit was the word of the year for the Sigma Nu's as they ran the football to Morehead State University as Eastern ended its season. Christmas intensified the spirit among the brothers as the Sigma Nu's sponsored a party for the underprivileged children in the Richmond area and worked extensively at Eastern's annual Hanging of the Greens.

Sigma Nu's academic excellence propelled them to win the Dean of Men's Annual academic trophy for the fraternity with the highest point average for the previous semester.

Alpha Chapter was founded at Virginia Military Institute January 1, 1869. In 100 years Sigma Nu has initiated over 160 chapters throughout the nation.

TKE's Win Float Competition

The Mu Beta chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon was honored at Homecoming by winning the "Most Original" float with their entry of "Land of the Giants." The brothers also received the honor of scholastically placing third among the Eastern fraternities. Traditionally, TKE sponsors a Greek Invitational Basketball Tournament, campus dances, and a Homecoming Tea for Alumni and parents. Spring activities were highlighted by the Red Carnation Ball in honor of the chapter sweetheart, Miss Marci Kringle.

Founded January 10, 1899, at Illinois Wesleyan University, TKE is now the largest men's social fraternity, both in number of chapters and undergraduate members. The Mu Beta chapter at Eastern was installed February 15, 1968.

Theta Chi Directs Red Cross Campaign

Participation in community and social activities highlighted the year for the Theta Chi's. The brothers helped remodel the old Southern Dollar Warehouse for the Kentucky Foothills League, a program for underprivileged children in Eastern Kentucky in which the students of EKU work with the children and also maintain the facilities. The brothers also directed a Red Cross blood campaign. At Christmas, baskets of fruit and candy were given to Eastern sororities by the brothers. The annual Theta Chi Tom Jones party and a golf classic climaxed the year.

Theta Chi finished second in the Academic Bowl. In Greek intramurals, the Ox Men finished high in both tennis and cross country.

Founded April 10, 1856, at the University of Norwich campus in Vermont, Eastern's Theta Chi's were installed as members-at-large December 4, 1969.

AUSA Tours Ohio Air Force Base

The Lt. John "Nick" Combs Memorial Company of the Association of the United States Army was established for men enrolled in the Reserve Officer Training Corps program. The purposes of the organization are to improve cadet training and to be of service to the school and the Richmond community.

The fifty members of the AUSA company attained their goals through various activities such as presenting guest lectures throughout the year, sponsoring an annual Christmas project as well as a field trip to Wright Patterson Air Force Base. Along with these activities, the AUSA company was responsible for the annual Spring Military Ball, the election of Queen Athena and the ROTC Sponsors.

PR Second Battalion Moves to Eastern

This year was one of the most active in the history of Pershing Rifle Company R-1. The Second Battalion Headquarters was moved from Dayton, Ohio, to Eastern's campus under the leadership of PR LTC Jack C. Whitney and PR MAJ Kenneth W. Robey. After the annual week's work of registration and traffic details, the members settled down to the task of developing competitive drill teams.

The Company was the defending champion at the Second Battalion Drill Meet held at Ohio State University, and also the co-defending champions of the Regimental drill meet also held at Ohio State. In the Second Battalion Drill Meet Company R-1 competed against six other schools while in the Regiment against twenty-one.

Last year Company R brought back seven first-place trophies and six second-place awards to add to their collection of more than 195 trophies.

The drill season saw the newly formed caper unit, Vallianettes, take a second-place trophy at the Regimental Drill Meet at Ohio State.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

AURORA Revamped

AURORA, Eastern's literary magazine, used a commercial printer to improve its physical appearance while maintaining the standards of quality set in previous years.

The AURORA provided talented students an opportunity to write for publication and gave the Eastern community examples of what has been done in the area of creative writing.

Sponsored by the English Canterbury club, AURORA, under the direction of its faculty advisors, Dr. John Long, Mr. Jay Roberts, Mr. John Fox, and Mrs. Phyllis Hetrick, and Editor-in-Chief, Dan Bullard, published poems, short stories, one-act plays, essays, and art work.

Assisting Bullard was his editorial staff consisting of business manager, Roger Click, poetry editors, Robert Pollock and Rosemary Gray, and prose editors, Beth Cocanougher and Betty Brown.

Work came fast and furious as AURORA neared its early spring deadline.

Progress Earns All-American

A new scope of the PROGRESS was the use of in-depth stories in its news columns. Adding a lighter touch to the weekly paper were feature stories about "VIP's" — Very Interesting Persons. Two new columns were added to the paper, "Help!" and "Club-tivity."

The EASTERN PROGRESS proudly wears its first All-American crown after a successful year of innovation and expanded service.

PROGRESS editors developed thoughtful editorials on pertinent issues and the "Ninth Column" while opinion polls and reviews of the fine arts added the local flavor. Readers, of course, expressed their opinions through letters to the editors column.

Co-editors Joe Edwards, in charge of news, and Allen Trimble, in charge of editorials, directed the paper through December. Upon Trimble's resignation in late December to accept a legislative internship, Karen Martin became Managing Editor while Edwards became Editor-in-Chief.

Life at Eastern Pictorially Captured

The photographic staff combined both skill and patience in keeping up with the many activities and organizations that must be pictorially captured to tell the story of life at Eastern. Their work with the MILESTONE was only one aspect of their photographic responsibilities which included the Eastern PROGRESS, News Bureau, and all areas of the office of Public Affairs.

The staff was headed by University Photographer, Mr. Craig Clover, until he left Eastern in November to take a position with the State Department of Public Information. Mr. Schley Cox came from the University of Kentucky to assume the position. A staff of enthusiastic students volunteered countless hours to the taking and processing of the thousands of photographs necessary to produce the 1970 MILESTONE.

1970 MILESTONE Captures the Age of Aquarius

The Year of the Student has been recorded within the pages of the 1970 MILESTONE. It was the Dawning of the Age of Aquarius at Eastern.

The 606-page MILESTONE, the largest ever, features an expanded beauty section and has a new senior credits portion as a part of the index. The index also serves as a student directory which lists every student enrolled this year.

It was the goal of the editors and staff of the MILESTONE to capture the sparkle of the happenings and the mood of the year. Realizing that small but meaningful occurrences slip from the memory, it was the intention of the staff to tickle the minds of its readers and help them recall the activities and emotions that made this the Year of Understanding.

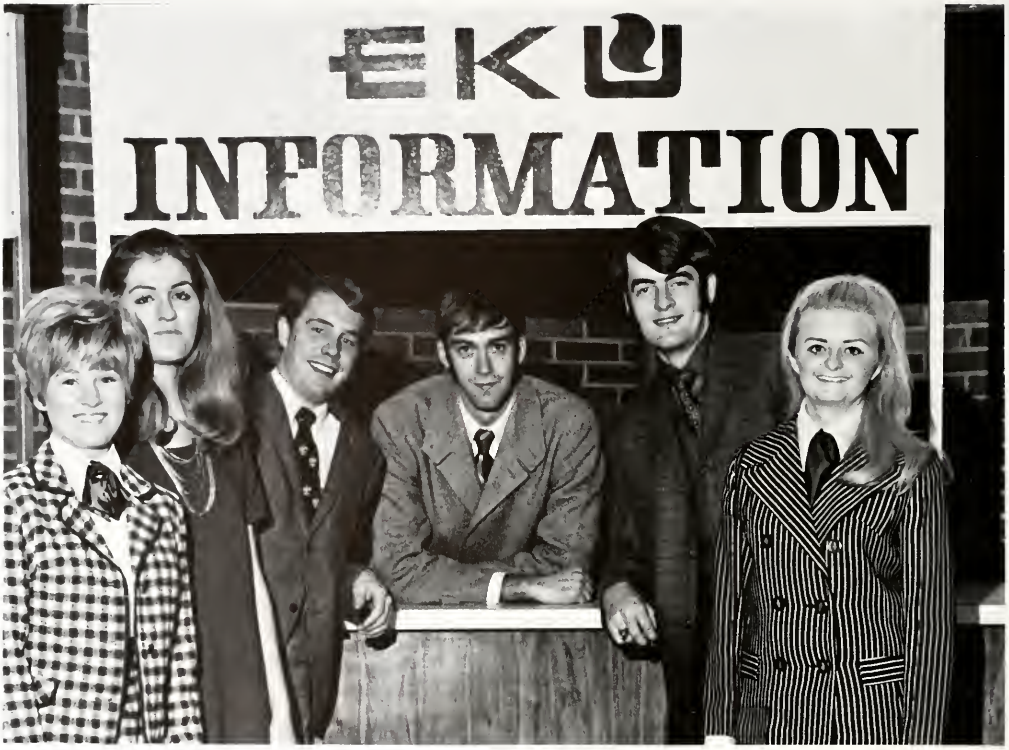
CLASSES OF 1970



Donna Justice, Secretary; Shawna Cartwright, Student Council Representative; Jeff Bonnell, Student Council Representative; Guy Colson, Vice President; Mike Bowers, President; Shannon Logan, Student Council Representative.

For the Class of 1970, the time has nearly arrived. Insights developed within a short lifetime of experience and knowledge accumulated during the past four years begin to come into focus as graduation time nears. Suddenly, the Senior begins to realize that he soon must leave the cozy world of theories and become a leader in an unsettled world of fact. Never again in his lifetime will the chances for winning nor the fear of losing be so great when, with sheepskin in hand, he enters the real, impersonal world.

Juniors Anticipate Active Year

As Juniors we question our readiness for society, and therefore we are anxious for another year to develop more fully our social and academic understandings. The experiment-in-living, which has characterized our college life, has created a desire to get involved in the stream of life. Our experiences and knowledge gained during three years at Eastern have given us a tolerance which we hope will make an impression on mankind.

Sophomore Class Achieves Unity

The adjustment problems of their Freshman year successfully negotiated, this year's Sophomores widened their areas of campus involvement. Putting their experience as 1968-69 Freshmen to use, most began the year with new academic and social outlooks.

Class unity developed during the year as the Class of 1972 pursued the goals of class spirit, interest and involvement.

Freshman Class Officers Instill Enthusiasm

Orientation week was met with much discretion by the many wide-eyed and innocent Freshmen. Farewells were said on that first day with tears in eyes and a scared look on their blank faces. After making a schedule and going through the pain of registration, the fun of college life begins.

Many experiences are learned the first year of college. Between the homesickness and depression there are the exciting memories the Freshmen will always cherish. The long-lasting friendships of roommates and friends are meaningful gains of the first year. The education and the new knowledge acquired are kept forever.

Cramming for finals is the last memory of the Freshmen. After finals, all the excitement is gone for the Class of 1973. We are now sophomores and have only three years of the easy life left.

Editor's Note

At last the 1970 Milestone is finished, it will remain as a record of the year that began an Age of Understanding at Eastern. As a reference book and a history of the year at EKU, it is my hope that the 1970 Milestone will grow in value, to each of its 8,300 holders as the years pass.

Many persons have helped to compile this book, and it is impossible to mention everyone. However, there are those to whom a special thanks must be given. Perhaps, I owe the most thanks to Nancy Brucchieri, managing editor, on whom I could always depend; our faithful section editors, who were always willing to try a little harder; the staff who did more than could be expected of them; and the two men without whom there could never have been a 1970 Milestone, Dean Don Feltner, adviser and Doug Whitlock, director of publications. They were always at hand to teach, advise and insure that we met our deadlines.

A special thanks is also due Schley Cox, university photographer and his student assistants, Larry Bailey, Greg Whalen, Dwaine Riddell, Patsy Gross, John Graves, Bobby Whitlock and Ricky Ward. I am also very grateful to former university photographer, Craig Clover, whose photographs compose a large portion of the book. Thanks are also due Billy Davis III, director of photography at the Courier-Journal, for the campus aerial on pages 24-25. The photograph on page 21 is courtesy of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Taylor Publishing Company.

I thank the people at Taylor Publishing Company, Fred Koger, Phil Orman, Dale Bennett and Mac Upshaw for their cooperation and the creative inspirations they gave us. Thanks also to John Mullaney, Larry Kneifle, Steve May and Betty Megerle of Osborne Photographic Laboratories, Inc. for portraits and selected activity pictures and the outstanding service given the Milestone.

Specifications for The 1970 Milestone

The 1970 MILESTONE was prepared by the students of Eastern Kentucky University and printed by offset lithography by Taylor Publishing Company, Dallas, Texas.

The first 122 pages are printed on 80 # Warren's Lustro Enamel stock, with the exception of the Miss Kentucky gatefold, pages 97-101, printed on 100 # Warren's Lustro Enamel. The remaining 484 pages are printed on Meads Moistrite 80-pound Matte-finish offset text. The endsheets are 65 # cover-weight smooth vellum bristol, printed in PMS 498. The divider page separating the front endsheets and the text is milkweed pattern motif parchment.

The cover is composed of red 061 rhino grain leatherette with blind embossed design and quarter-bound with Crompton's Rally Red twillback velveteen.

Body copy for the opening 26 pages is Optima, 14 point with 2-point leading; for the remainder of the book is Spartan 12 point, with 2 point leading. Cutlines are 8 point Spartan. Senior listings are Spartan, 10 point and underclasses are 8 point. Headlines are Optima 24 point.

Various special effects are used in several sections of the MILESTONE in an attempt to achieve maximum reader appeal. A combination of art and vertical line conversions, printed in two colors, yellow and black is used for photographs appearing on the divisional pages. Sub-divisional pages are steel etchings, printed in a single color, black. Four-color mezzotint is used on pages 6 and 7.

Other special effects were achieved photographically. Photographs appearing on pages 1 and 5 were taken with infrared film and printed by four-color process.

Cameras used to photograph activity pictures, both four-color and black-and-white, appearing in the 1970 MILESTONE included: Nikon (35mm), Pentax (35mm) Rolleiflex (2¼ x 2¼), Mamiyaflex (2¼" x 2¼") Hasselblad (2¼" x 2¼") and Yashicamat 124 (2¼ x 2¼). Senior and underclass portraits were photographed with a Beatie Portonic Camera, 70mm, using dual Speedotron strobe lights, by Osborne Photographic Laboratories, Cincinnati.

Press run was 8,300 copies.
